McCarthy Condemned By Fellow Senators On 2 Separate Counts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) stood condemned for his conduct today by a 67-22 vote of his Senate colleagues.

The judgment of the Senate was handed down late yesterday and after the vote was in McCarthy declared he was "very happy to get this circus over with."

The "circus" was authorized Aug. 2 when the Senate, by a vote of 75-12, consigned the McCarthy dispute to a special bipartisan committee which was to weigh all accusation hurled against the Wisconsin senator.

At that time, McCarthy urged a speedy report from the special group. He said, "All I want is a vote by the Senate."

The Senate's 75-12 vote creating the inquiry group was opposed by three Republicans, eight Democrats and one independent. All McCarthy's friends voted for it. McCarthy himself voted "present."

The vote adopting a resolution condemning McCarthy's conduct on two counts capped an extraordinary session of the Senate, begun Nov. 8, that became increasingly tense and bitter.

On the final vote Republican senators divided evenly, 22-22. A solid lineup of 44 Democrats voted for passage of the resolution. So did Sen. Morse of Oregon, the Senate's lone independent.

Thus McCarthy became the first senator since 1929 to suffer an official rebuke from his colleagues for his actions, and the fourth in Senate history.

Despite the sharp Republican split on the issue, some GOP senators said they did not believe it would leave lasting scars within the party.

Sen. Bennett (R-Utah), author of one of the counts adopted by the Senate, said that "I don't think the apparent rift will be too great or too permanent."

Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.), a member of the special committee which recommended censure against McCarthy, said he believes the Republicans will "pull together" once the next session starts, adding it would be "necessary because we will be the minority party."

McCarthy, asked if there were any basis to reports he might break away from the Republican party to form a new party, replied "there's nothing to it."

"I am a Republican and intend to remain a Republican," he said. "And I will do my work within the Republican party because that's the best place."

President Eisenhower declined comment on the Senate's action at his news conference yesterday. He said it was a matter of the Senate determining what is required in preserving its dignity.

The resolution, as adopted by the Senate in its final form, condemned McCarthy's conduct on these two counts:

1. That he had obstructed "the constitutional processes of the Senate" by failing to cooperate with and by repeatedly abusing a Sen-

3-Pronged Bender-Burke Poll Contest Probe Hinted

COLUMBUS (AP)—A three-pronged probe into the recent Bender-Burke senatorial election loomed today as more charges of vote count irregularities piled up.

Meanwhile, Sen. Thomas A. Burke's recount margin continued to expand. It showed a net gain of 2,738 votes today.

The recount includes 6,840 precincts, with 922 still left to tally. Burke, a Democrat, was defeated Nov. 2 for the U. S. Senate by Republican George H. Bender, by 5,041 votes in the official canvass.

Reports from Cincinnati said Burke forces planned to appeal to the Senate Elections Committee for a federal investigation and recount of the Burke-Bender race in Hamilton County, so far the No. 1 recount hot spot.

And Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said he will open an investigation Monday in Cleveland.

HE SAID VARIANCES of more than 50 votes between recount and official totals "must be explained in several wards."

Earlier, the prosecuting attorney of Hamilton County said he would open an investigation into the count in the Cincinnati area. He declared that there appeared to have been "outright theft of votes" in the contest.

Incomplete totals included: Hamilton—Burke 608 votes in 565 of 1,102 precincts; Lucas—Burke 335 in 333 of 543; Mahoning—Burke 13 in 179 of 338; Franklin—Burke 184 in 654 of 811.

Recount tabulations were complete in 21 counties with only four left to go. They include Franklin, Hamilton, Lucas and Mahoning.

Burke's campaign manager, Joseph Sullivan of Cleveland, wired Brown yesterday to stop the Hamilton County recount.

"If there is fraud, it will be hidden forever unless you act at once," he said. Sullivan claimed Burke recount witnesses were denied a look at entire ballots in Hamilton County and thus unable to compare X marks in the senatorial race with other contests.

Mrs. Anne S. Cloudley of Cincinnati, vice chairman of the Democratic Central Committee, said she saw at least a dozen ballots marked "with a tiny black X," not at all like the others on the same ballot.

"I know for sure that some of the ballots I saw were marked by more than one person and the strange 'X' always would appear for Bender," she said.

Counties showing a gain for Burke included: Allen 60, Ashtabula 33, Belmont 19, Butler 48, Cuyahoga 1,041, Green 15, Jefferson 80 (one precinct's ballots disputed), Licking 6, Medina 13, Mercer 30, Putnam 14, Ross 2, Scioto 27, Stark 120, Summit 145, Tuscarawas 8.

Counties giving Bender an increase were: Ashland 8, Columbiana 14, Lawrence 16, Muskingum 20, Richland 7.

Japs Fear Ohio Family Is 'Lost'

TOKYO (AP)—The small yacht Phoenix, with an Ohio family of four aboard, is "undoubtedly lost," the Japanese coast guard said today.

A spokesman said no trace of it had been found despite an intensive search conducted during the last four days. "We will continue to search for two more months, trace or no trace, before officially declaring the Phoenix lost," he said.

The 30-ton, 35-foot two-master set sail from Hiroshima on a world cruise Oct. 4. It last was heard from Oct. 28 when it radioed that it was at anchor in a small fishing port 300 miles east.

Aboard the yacht were Dr. Earl Reynolds, 44, his wife Barbara, 39, and their children, Ted, 16, and Jessica, 10, all of Yellow Springs, Ohio.

Burke Casts Vote Against McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Thomas A. Burke (D-Ohio) yesterday voted in favor of a resolution condemning the conduct of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) on two counts, approved by the Senate 67-22.

Sen. John Bricker (R-Ohio), in the Pacific on a fact-finding trip, was officially listed as not voting but paired against the measure.

Sen. Burke also voted for an amendment, adopted 64-23, condemning Sen. McCarthy for his attack on the special Senate committee that recommended his censure. Sen. Bricker was not listed as voting or paired.

Corps Collects A Ton Of Toys Plus $101 Cash

Thursday night's Toy Tour netted slightly more than a ton, collected in Circleville.

James P. Shea, publicity director of the Circleville American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps which sponsored the event, added that $101 was also received in cash donations.

These totals compare with more than two tons of toys collected in 1953. Also, donations last year added up to $150.

The city was divided into three sections. A portion of the corps was assigned to each sector.

Shea pointed out that it was physically impossible for the corps members to call at each and every house. As a matter of fact, he said that he had received calls Friday morning from people who had donations to make.

"If we missed anyone," he said, "and they have toys or money for the cause, then please call me at 351. We will arrange to have someone stop by."

He added that the porch light idea helped out. However, he noted that many people who went out for the evening also left their porch lights on, adding to some confusion.

Shea said he hoped additional donations could help the corps reach the 1953 figure.

Man's Taunt Starts Hunt For Escapee

NEWARK (AP)—A man's taunt here yesterday startled law officers into searching the area for Pat McDermott, 56-year-old murderer who escaped Sunday from Ohio Penitentiary. He was serving a life sentence.

Police said a man in a parked car called Stanley Shaw over to the vehicle, apparently to ask information. When Shaw crossed to the car, he said a second man blurted:

"You guys think you're going to catch McDermott?" Then, Shaw said, the driver sped off.

Shaw, who is Newark fire chief but was in plain clothes, notified police, and an alert went out to surrounding counties while a dozen patrol cars formed a net around the city.

The two were finally picked up in downtown Newark. Police said the pair had no knowledge of McDermott, although they were uncertain about the motive for the hoax. One of the two was jailed for intoxication. He was identified as William John Kelly, 48, of Somerset.

McDermott walked out of an honor dormitory at the penitentiary. He was sent there for the 1926 murder of Don R. Mellett, crusading publisher of the old Canton Daily News.

State officials said there was no progress and no new leads in their search.

2-Year Highway Program Outlined

State Road Chiefs Plan Spending $230 Million For Improvements

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Highway Department yesterday unwrapped a unified two-year road-building program estimated to cost $230 million.

The plan included proposals for an additional $48½ million in planning and purchase of rights of way for future highway construction.

Funds for the giant project would come from federal aid, state funds, local government funds and issuance of state bonds.

Supplementing construction proposals, the department suggested $4 million be made available yearly for bridge replacements, repairs and emergency needs.

The complete program was submitted to the State Highway Construction Council for approval or rejection, in whole or in part.

The program was set up under interpretation by the department that present law requires a firm program set up in advance for each two-year period.

THE 1956-57 program is the first submitted since voters approved issuing bonds to speed up highway construction.

Listed by state highway department divisions here are some of the major projects proposed for construction during the two-year period which ends June 30, 1957:

Ohio Valley Hikes Sewage Treatment

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Ohio River Valley Water Sanitation Commission reported today that sewage disposal facilities now are in operation for more than four million people in the Ohio Valley.

The commission, making its sixth annual report, said 45 per cent of the population in a 155,000 square mile area of Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia now is served by sewage treatment.

Plants are under construction for nine per cent of the population and plants have been approved for 26 per cent.

Knowland Silent Over Ike's Hope For Harmony On Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's stated hope that Republican congressional leaders will avoid differing greatly with him on basic administration policy was met with silence today by Senate Majority Leader Knowland.

"No comment," said the California senator with respect to the hope the President voiced at his news conference yesterday.

Eisenhower was replying to a question pinned specifically to Knowland's differences with the White House and State Department.

Knowland has been critical of the administration over how to deal with the Chinese Communists' imprisonment of 13 Americans as "spies." The senator wants the United States to blockade Red China in an effort to force release of the prisoners.

The President, at his session with newsmen, rejected that idea. He said a blockade would be "an act of war" and counseled against letting the Communists goad the U. S. into war.

Eisenhower also again turned thumbs down on proposals to sever diplomatic relations with Russia. Knowland has urged such action.

Democrat Chieftains Set To Select New Chairman

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Democratic National Committee members turned up in record numbers today for a free-for-all battle over the choice of a successor to Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell.

As party members huddled in caucuses reminiscent of a presidential nominating convention the unsettled question of how many votes are needed to elect a new chairman arose to plague them.

With 71 of the 105 committee members having indicated their intention to attend Mitchell said today for a free-for-all battle over the choice of a successor to Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell.

The issue was somewhat similar to the old two-thirds rule which the Democrats abolished in 1936, whether a majority of those voting can name the new chairman or whether the successful candidate must receive 55 votes.

The committee has 108 memberships, but there are individual vacancies from Texas, West Virginia and Puerto Rico. A vacancy from Nevada was scheduled to be filled later in the day.

The numbers controversy took on deep significance because of the apparently tight race being run for the chairmanship by three candidates—Committeeman Paul Butler of Indiana, James Finnegan, former president of the Philadelphia City Council, and Michael V. Di Salle of Ohio, former price administrator. Not since 1912 has the committee had a wide-open contest for the chairmanship and its rules are slightly rusty.

Butler is regarded as the choice of Mitchell, who told a news conference yesterday that if some successor isn't picked the committee will have to go without a chairman after Jan. 1.

He said he is determined to retire to private law practice which he left to head the committee in 1952 at the request of Adlai E. Stevenson, then the party's presidential nominee.

From all the signs here, Stevenson has kept hands off the choice of a new chairman. Nevertheless, opponents are concentrating their fire on Butler and saying he is Stevenson's man.

'Junk Mail' Was Started By Ex-Postman

HAS, Kan. (AP)—Herman Tholen, a jeweler who was once a rural mail carrier, has started a one-man war on "junk mail"—circulairs addressed merely "boxholder," or "postal patron."

He puts a three-cent stamp on every one he receives, marks it "personal," and mails it to Postmaster General Summerfield in Washington.

Summerfield's office authorized the new method of distributing third class mail, hoping to get more income to offset deficits.

"By the time the postmaster general receives several million circulars—that is, if others join me in the move—I'm sure he will be ready to reconsider," Tholen said.

Another form of protest against "junk mail" has been underway for weeks. In this instance, persons receiving the "junk" merely write across the face of the envelope "refused," post it, and it is returned by the postoffice to the original sender—at his expense. While this puts an extra burden on postal employees, sponsors insist it gives definite proof to the original mailers that their propaganda is not wanted.

Sponsors say that when the senders see they are paying double postage, they will think twice about loading the mails with their "junk."

3 Different Approaches Available To U.S. In Anti-China Maneuver

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States pressed today for U. N. action to free 11 American airmen jailed by Red China on spy charges. The move brought quick response from America's 15 Korean Allies.

U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., after a high-level meeting in Washington, called the Allies into emergency session last night to discuss the speediest course of action. He voiced confidence the U. N. would support any move the Americans might decide on.

President Eisenhower told newsmen in Washington yesterday he did not see "how the United Nations can possibly disabuse itself of a feeling of responsibility in this matter, and retain its self-respect." Similar views have been expressed by congressmen. The airmen flew under U. N. colors.

Informed sources said Eisenhower may underscore his interest in the case by sending secretary of State Dulles here to take a personal hand.

After meeting with the Allies, Lodge told newsmen:

"WE ARE GOING to act to do everything we can to keep faith with these men. They are U. N. men as well as U. S. men. This organization can't go on if it does not stand by people who go to bat for it when it gets into trouble."

U. N. circles said there were three main avenues of action:

1. Bring the matter before the Security Council where undoubtedly it would turn into the Soviet veto.

2. Ask U. N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld to intercede personally with the Peiping government.

3. Seek a General Assembly (Continued on Page Two)

U.S. Employers Boosting Aid For Workers

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new Labor Department survey indicates the nation's employers are making a much bigger contribution to insurance protection for their workers.

The study disclosed that 95 per cent of the urban workers it surveyed in the country enjoy some kind of health, pension or other insurance paid for by their employers, either wholly or in part.

The department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, which made the survey, said it could make no precise comparisons with the scope of employer-financed insurance in earlier years, but that a considerable expansion in this field was obvious.

"It is evident," the bureau said, "that the past two years insurance and pension protection has been made available for the first time to substantial numbers of workers, while for many others the number of types of benefits available have been increased."

The survey dealt only with private insurance plans in which employers pay at least a portion of costs. It did not include private health, pension or other insurance coverage the workers might buy for themselves. Nor did it cover such government insurance programs as social security.

The study covered six million workers in offices and plants employing 50 or more persons. It was confined to the country's 17 largest urban areas and skipped the small plants and towns.

2. That he "acted contrary to senatorial ethics and tended to bring the Senate into dishonor and disrepute" by his attacks on the special committee that recommended his censure and by calling the Senate's special session, among other things, "a lynch party."

The second count, offered by Bennett, was adopted in place of a count recommended by the special committee to condemn McCarthy for "intemperate abuse" of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker. The count based on McCarthy's treatment of Zwicker at a closed-door hearing in New York City last Feb. 18 was never brought to a vote after strong opposition to it became evident in the debate. Bennett's count was substituted instead by a 64-23 vote, and then approved 64-24.

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt), author of the original censure resolution against McCarthy, said after the final roll call that "this has been a long and sad, but very necessary experience." He said he believes that from now on "it will be possible to have a more constructive approach to fighting communism."

Sen. Watkins, chairman of the special committee, said "the Senate has just finished a very unpleasant task."

Relief Officials Offer To Steer Yule Gifts To Neediest Cases

Two Pickaway County officials who are in the best position to do so have offered to serve as clearing house for Christmas charity gifts to the needy.

The offer, long recognized as an important need in the district, comes from Miss Pauline Reese, head of the county's general relief and related agencies, and Mrs. Dorothy Downs, in charge of Aid for Dependent Children. Both emphasized how such a plan would minimize the risk of duplicating gifts—a duplication which could give several gifts to one family while a neighboring family goes without any.

In past years a considerable amount of duplication in this respect has handicapped the giving of Christmas food baskets and individual donations of various kinds to the needy. Community groups, clubs and other organizations have frequently made special efforts to help a needy family, unaware that two or more of them are directing their assistance to one family and ignoring others equally needy.

It was pointed out that such duplications, leading to confusion, misunderstandings and bad feelings, also occur from time to time during the year. Only reason for the clearing house proposal at this time is because such charity is always increased during the year-end holidays.

MISS ROESE and Mrs. Downs explained they would maintain an up-to-date master list of all the district's needy families and individuals.

"Then, when an organization, for example, calls us up and says five Christmas baskets are available, we can check our list and give them the names of five families," Mrs. Downs explained.

The telephone number for Miss Reese's office is 85. For Mrs. Downs' office, the number is 332. Last year at Christmas, due to a lack of organization of the type offered, several local families received two or three baskets of food while other needy families were left without any due to a lack of donors.

Miss Reese and Mrs. Downs said their list of the needy in this district is compiled according to the degree of need. That is, the cases in most urgent need are at the top of the list. And the remainder accordingly to their circumstances.

Indicted Driver Being Returned From Indiana

An Indiana truck driver, secretly indicted by the test session of the Pickaway County Grand Jury in connection with the traffic death of a Columbus man, has agreed to be extradited.

Ray A. McKean, 28, of Decatur, Ind., was accused of manslaughter in the second degree. He has already paid a $25 fine and costs for failure to keep his truck as assured clear distance.

McKean is accused of running his truck into another which was parked while repairs were being made on it. Charles Ellis, 53, the other driver, died a week after the accident.

The crash occurred on Route 23, 1.5 miles south of the Pickaway-Franklin County line at 4:30 a. m. McKean claims he did not see in time the smudge pots which Ellis had put on the highway to warn approaching vehicles.

WHILE ELLIS was making repairs on the truck, McKean's truck reportedly struck the left rear of the parked vehicle. The struck jack-knifed and sent Ellis sprawling into a field a short distance away.

Sheriff's deputies obtained a statement from a passing motorist who said he saw the smudge pots. McKean previously had fought being returned to Pickaway County.

Segregation Laws Work In Reverse

PETERSBURG, Va. (AP)—For many years Negroes have been making news by applying for admission to colleges in states where segregation laws barred them.

The news was reversed when more than a dozen white applicants were denied admission to Virginia State College, a school for Negroes. The college turned them down after being advised by the State Board of Education that they could not be admitted under Virginia law.

President Robert P. Danile of the college said the white applicants were from the area near the college and were mostly interested in part-time courses as day students.

Local Girl Sings In OSU Chorus

A Circleville girl will be among the singers next Sunday when the 380-voice University Chorus, under the direction of Prof. Louis H. Diercks, presents Handel's "Messiah" as part of the traditional "White Christmas" observance at Ohio State University.

Donnabelle Ferguson of 502 E. Ohio St. is a member of the chorus. The afternoon performance begins at 8:15.

The chorus will also take part in the "Christmas Choral Festival", to be presented at 8:15 p. m. the same day.

Both concerts will be in the Men's Gymnasium, on the campus, and are open to the public.

Rotarians Hear AEC Official Talk On Bomb

Looking back to the anniversary of the atomic bomb's first hush development, Thursday's meeting of the Circleville Rotary Club has its program based on the tremendous discovery that opened a new historical era.

Main speaker for the luncheon gathering was Robert Rose, assistant to the manager of community affairs at the Atomic Energy Commission's project in Pike County.

In the course of his talk it was recalled that on Dec. 2, 1942, a group of scientists secretly met in a small room at Chicago to see the final laboratory success of the A-bomb process. It was at this meeting that they learned, for the first time, that the reaction was self-sustaining—opening the door to the whole atomic field.

Rose reminded the Rotarians that the progress, development and great prospects of the atomic energy program reflect lasting credit on the few men who steered the first experiments. For the average individual, he added, the magnitude and complexity of the atomic program is beyond comprehension.

The AEC official pointed beyond the well-known destructive power of nuclear fission and stressed its peacetime potential. As examples of the vast field open to atomic energy, he described the atomic powered submarine, Nautilus, and a nuclear fuel power plant being built in Pennsylvania.

City Firemen Make Rural Blaze Run

A rural fire run was made by the Circleville Fire Department Thursday night.

At 7:49 p. m., the firefighters were called to the Crites farm, north of here, on Route 23. The alarm was caused by a roof fire which was already under control when the city firemen arrived. The farm is located in Circleville Township, which has a fire protection contract with the city of Circleville.

Cancer Research Fund Is Granted

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Dr. Peter A. Lindstrom, ex-husband of screen actress Ingrid Bergman, has received a $4,980 grant from the American Cancer Society for research work.

Dr. Lindstrom has helped develop pain controlling brain operations by use of high frequency sound waves instead of surgery. A neurologist, he is a research associate of the Addison H. Gibson laboratory at the University of Pittsburgh. He also is a member of the staff at the Aspinwall Veterans Administration Hospital.

Brother Tells Sam's Condition

Deterioration Caused By Injuries, Claim

CLEVELAND (AP)—Dr. Samuel Sheppard's physical condition deteriorated for several days after he was taken to the hospital, his brother testified here today.

"He was worse on Monday," Dr. Stephen Sheppard told the jury. "The defense is building its contention that the handsome osteopath was injured seriously in the fight he claims he had with a mysterious attacker who killed his wife, Marilyn. She was slain in the early hours of July 4."

"Dr. Steve" said that a day after "Dr. Sam" was admitted to the hospital, the swelling on his face had increased, and that he lost control of his natural functions.

"What did this loss of control of the natural processes indicate to you?" Chief Defense Counsel William J. Corrigan asked.

"It indicated an injury to the spinal cord," the witness replied. He said his suspicion of a spinal injury was shared by a brain specialist, whom he had called July 4 when Dr. Sam was first admitted to the hospital.

DR. STEVE SAID the specialist also found an absence of reflexes in the left arm and abdomen. A spinal puncture was made. Dr. Steve said, and the specialist's report for that day carries the notation: "Indication of a cervical spinal cord contusion."

Last Monday, Dr. E. Richard Hexter, a physician testifying for the state, said he found no serious injury to the defendant, but admitted he never before had made a spinal examination. The prosecution has suggested Dr. Sam's injuries were faked.

Dr. Stephen, the first defense witness, started his testimony yesterday by saying his brother broke into tears when a deceptive first accused him of the murder. He quoted Dr. Sam as saying incredulously, "those policemen think I killed Marilyn."

That statement, the witness said, came after the first time detectives interviewed Dr. Sam. The brother went on to relate that his brother "was crying. He was extremely agitated and upset. The change in him was tremendous."

15 American Allies Rally Behind Move

resolution charging violation of the Korean armistice and demanding the fliers' release on grounds they were illegally imprisoned.

If the third course is adopted, the Russians are expected to echo Peiping's claim that the men are not war prisoners but were shot down over the China mainland.

The United States apparently aimed at forestalling such a move in confining its appeal to the 11 airmen. Two civilian employees of the U. S. Army were sentenced along with the fliers but Lodge said they were not in the U. N. forces, all had been captured when their planes were downed during the Korean War.

DENOUNCING their jailing on what he called "trumped-up charges" U. S. Delegate James J. Wadsworth said conditions were hardly favorable for new Korean negotiations, sought by Russia. "At this time when Communist China has just furnished fresh evidence of its brutal and illegal treatment of captured personnel of the U. N. command in violation of the armistice agreement."

Russia's Jacob Malik indicated the Soviet attitude when he said the case of the fliers had nothing to do with the Korean problem. He charged the issue was "connected artificially because the United States was short of any serious argument."

Allied with the United States in Korea were Britain, France, Canada, Australia, Belgium, Colombia, Ethiopia, Greece, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, New Zealand, the Philippines, Thailand, South Africa and Turkey.

British Pound Value Showing New Decline

Experts Seek Reason For Dip; Talk Of Aid For Sterling Dropped

NEW YORK (AP) — The British pound sterling is at its lowest level in relation to the American dollar in two years — a more than seasonal weakness that has the experts scurrying around for explanations.

And the talk about making the pound freely exchangeable with the dollar is being shunted aside once more.

The British claim they have liberalized trade and currency exchange progressively this year so that soon it will look a little like convertibility.

American bankers point out that what Britain seems to be aiming at for the moment is a hard-top convertible — to use an automobile industry term. It may look like a convertible. But just try to roll the top back.

Convertibility is that state of comparative international financial innocence that prevailed way back when. . . in those pre-World War I days you could take some dollars and buy some British pounds, or French francs or Argentine pesos without hindrance, if you liked the rate the seller offered.

For the American businessman that meant if he sold $100 worth of his goods abroad he could bring 100 dollars back to this country if he liked. It meant that the American farmer could do the same, if he sold grain or cotton abroad.

Now the farmer often must accept the money of the country in which he sells — and if he has no use for the foreign money, chances are he can't make the sale, and the grain or cotton goes into a U.S. government price support warehouse.

Americans go on selling abroad when they can, or bartering when they can't get dollars, or playing three-way bookkeeping deals with other countries. Some big corporations have set up special departments to handle the new look in world trade.

Government agencies try three-way barter deals, also. The Foreign Operations Administration is working out a deal with Denmark whereby we send her four million dollars worth of our surplus farm commodities. She in turn is to send an equal amount of her products to one or more nations to whom we already have promised foreign aid.

The whole thing will be done without the exchange of dollars in a world where exchange of currencies is now so difficult. If you count out the American taxpayers, that is. They put up the four million dollars in the first place to acquire the surplus farm products.

But progress is being made toward freeing trade and currencies. For example, France has just moved to lift import quotas on a long list of items January 1. France's healthier finances helped speed the day.

West Germany is raring to go on all-out convertibility and so are Belgium and The Netherlands. The Economist, British weekly, notes that these three countries have "continually urged Britain to take the final and dramatic plunge into convertibility."

Most Americans, however, see little chance that England will do so until after the general elections next year. The laborites are against it and the conservatives fear to risk it in an election year.

Current weakness in the British pound isn't helping any. But most observers think that seasonal factors may be largely to blame for that.

Other things enter in, however. London's dock strike held up exports so that Britain didn't get the dollars she might have. She is making larger than usual purchases of tobacco and coal from us just now. Britain is paying in dollars for a large quantity of

Hal Boyle Says:

Doorbell Ringing Is An Art

NEW YORK (AP) — Many of today's famous men got their start by pushing doorbells.

Bruce Barton sold cooking utensils from door to door to help pay his college tuition. Billy Graham toted around a well-known line of household brushes. Eric Johnston once sold vacuum cleaners.

Arthur Godfrey, who later learned he could get into more living rooms via television than by knocking on front doors, in his youth sold cemetery lots for a time by house-to-house plugging.

They are just a few of the honored graduates of a form of direct selling, symbolized by the roving Yankee peddler, which began in this country almost as soon as the Pilgrims landed. Approximately a million Americans today devote all or part of their time to this kind of salesmanship. This huge army of doorbell ringers now sell items as small as a nail file, as large as an oak tree. Fortunately, they don't have to carry sample oak trees in their daily rounds. Pictures will do.

Business is good right now with the doorbell pushers.

"Direct selling seems to rise and fall with the tempo of retailing generally," said George Graves, president of the National Assn. of Direct Selling Companies.

"There is no available census of the industry, but we estimate its volume at between two and four billion dollars a year. And this doesn't include the door-to-door business done by insurance agents, milkmen or auto salesmen. There are quite a few auto salesmen now out looking for sales by pushing doorbells."

His organization has quietly set about trying to stamp out unsavory practices in the industry. Member firms must subscribe and live up to a code of ethics. Crews of high pressure salesmen who move from town to town are frowned upon. So is the brassy, fast-talking fellow who wedges his foot in the housewife's door while he pours out a quick glib spiel about the wonders of a new can opener guaranteed to lighten her chores, improve her intellect and make her irresistible to her husband.

"The backbone of our industry is the sales representative who is known and respected in his own community," Graves said.

This kind of agent relies less and less on pushing a cold doorbell. He likes to arrange house parties at which he can demonstrate his wares to groups of club women and neighboring housewives.

Who is engaged in this type of work and what are its rewards? A tree nursery firm specializing in direct selling found its agents ranged from 24 to 55 years of age, earned between $6,000 and $8,000 a year, and formerly had been employed as shipping clerks, garage attendants and truck drivers.

The field is divided equally between men and women. While it still draws college boys, it also attracts many retired businessmen.

Graves, who heads one of the world's largest cosmetics firms, has 60,000 sales agents, mostly women, from girls of 18 to one woman who, now 85, is still a top seller.

"They come from all walks of life," he said. "Many are former schoolteachers or widows. Many, minister's wives take up this work and three of our representatives are the wives of small town bankers."

"And one of our best agents is a southern minister. He does a tremendous business."

The great problem in the industry is the turnover in sales agents, which averages more than 50 per cent a year. They are recruited largely by other agents or through classified newspaper ads.

"The reason for the turnover is the fact that many people take up direct selling for a single purpose," explained Graves. "They

Footless Churchill Painting Brews Storm Among British

LONDON (AP) — "Why no feet on our Prime Minister?"

That's just one of the questions being asked in the squall of controversy which has broken over artist Graham Sutherland's birth portrait of Sir Winston Churchill, given him by members of the House of Parliament as an 80th anniversary present yesterday.

Opinions are violent in the fight in which there seem to be no neutrals. Sutherland, a top-ranking British artist, painted a picture of an alert old man who seems to be thinking of something and about to spring out of his chair to do something strenuous about it.

But no feet. Sutherland, who won fame and great respect as a painter of highly subjective landscapes and who only lately has turned to portraiture, told newsmen that the feet once were there. But he thought they destroyed the balance of head and hands so painted them out, ending the portrait vaguely at the trouser cuffs.

"It's disgusting — it's ill-mannered — it's terrible," said Lord Hailsham, a former conservative member of the House of Commons. "It is a splendid legacy to posterity," said George Rogers, a Socialist member of Parliament and himself an artist.

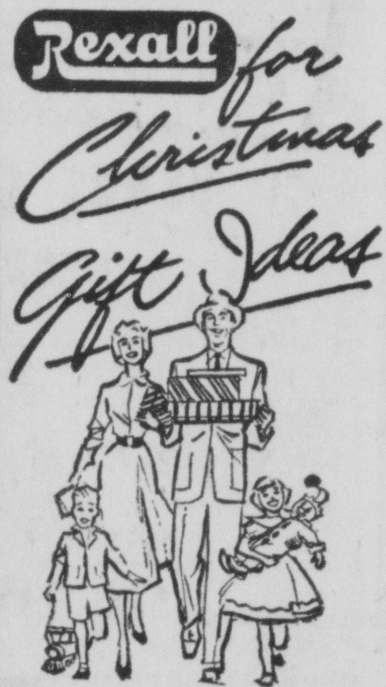

Churchill himself called it a great example of modern art combining force and candor. (The Old Man is known for his aversion to modern art.) The Daily Express reported that at a private viewing before yesterday's public unveiling the Prime Minister quipped: "It makes me look half-witted, which I ain't."

Sutherland expected the controversy, but seemed to be a little shaken by its violence.

"It is Churchill as I see him," he said. "My idea of him is probably nothing like the man in the streets."

wheat bought for the account of continental Europe.

And some in the sterling area aren't getting as many dollars this year for their products—Australia, for example, isn't selling us as much wool this year. And this month Britain is to make its annual 180 million dollar repayment on loans by the United States and Canada.

Roundtown Retrospect

By Mac Noggle

What do you think could be called the oldest product which is still being shipped in quantity from Pickaway County? Our guess—the gravel and sand from the Sturn and Dillard plant on the Island Road. We are going to do our best to prove the point.

Notice that we did not say it was a product "of" Pickaway County. We doubt if any part of it is native—but how it got here in such great quantities is a fascinating story. Within a comparative short time—geologically speaking—say 125 thousand years—this material was brought into our country by the last continental ice sheet which affected this region and is known as the Wisconsin glaciation.

We read today about the stupendous earth-moving jobs done with modern machinery—but any of these would be but the work of toys compared to what this glacier did. There are several misconceptions concerning the character of this great moving sheet of ice which we would like to try and correct before going into the story of what happened northwest of Circleville.

The most common misbelief is that it was like the great white wall of ice which is seen in the Arctic regions. The ice which covered Ohio was much different. It was not clean and white.

WHERE it was born and lived for thousands of years before it started to go visiting, it probably was and it may have been as much as two or three miles thick, but as it slowly pushed to the south and into a region which was much warmer, it began to melt—gathering more and more rock and earth, until at the point farthest away from its starting place, there was a greater per cent of debris than there was ice.

So it is probable, had there been such a thing as a man at that time, he could have walked from the ground onto the thin ledge of ice without knowing it. Another idea which should be discarded is that this wall of ice slipped down and across central and southern Ohio in a straight line.

No—it acted like any free-moving object and followed the path of the least resistance—coming down the valleys, but stopping at or moving around higher ground. The pattern it formed was like the fingers of the hand. Its complete disappearance from Ohio has been fixed by the scientists at from 40 to 25 thousand years ago.

It is said that there was much ice in the northern part of Ohio thousands of years after Pickaway County was free of it. Now let's see what went on here during this ice age. We wish that we could persuade you to drive up the Island Road and really look over this region to get the real significance of it all.

Just east of the great ridge of gravel, between the N and W right of way and the Island Road is the black soil region—some of it even a peat bog. Here there probably was a shallow lake for thousands of years, in which the vegetation decomposed and formed the organic material found there today.

Then if you will look to the west, across the river, you will see the outwash plains from the face of the ice and spreading the earth material out on a level-as flat as a floor.

FARTHER WEST of this plain, near Fox, was a mild "boulder belt". Many can remember how the fields in the Darby Creek bottoms were strewn with great boulders—many weighing tons and also countless smaller ones—most of which were granite, a rock is certainly not native to Pickaway County.

These had been picked up far north of here by the relentless push of the slowly moving ice and were dropped on the land in streaks as the ice melted.

But how was the great ridge of gravel and sand—seemingly bottomless—formed along the east side of the Scioto River in Circleville Township? So that you are not confused—you must remember there was no such thing as the Scioto River then.

This region was in the valley of the great Newark River, which entered our county in western Madison Township and flowed directly south. Circleville is situated entirely on the filled-in Newark River. There were possibly three things which happened at this point.

Many of you can remember the old "kettle-hole" along the road and not far from the river bridge. This formation was of great interest to the geologist and the batanist. In it were many specimens which were entirely foreign to our region. We have often wondered, too, if the bog in the center of this had been properly explored by our scientists before it was destroyed, they would have found the remains of some of the great pre-historic mammals, which roamed our country in the very early days.

They came to such places to drink and quite often to die. The "kettle-hole" was formed by a great chunk of the retreating ice, breaking loose and remaining, while sand and gravel piled around it. When the ice was entirely melted, a large round hole was left.

BUCKEYE AND Indian lakes are glacial kettle lakes. Those, who remember the Wayne Lindsey land before it was sold to Sturn and Dillard, recall the two or three hummocks of gravel on top of the ridge along the river bank. They looked like Indian mounds and have been mistaken as the work of the mound-building Indians. But they, too, were formed by the glacier.

Georgia Teen-Ager Given Reprieve To Allow Sanity Check

ATLANTA (AP)—Gov. Herman Tamm has ordered a stay of execution for James Willie Morgan, 18, who was scheduled to die in the electric chair today.

Responding to a last-minute appeal by the youth's attorney Archie Gleason, the governor last night agreed to a 15-day delay to permit a sanity hearing and examination by psychiatrists.

Morgan was sentenced to death for fatally shooting Eugene Talmadge Bryant, young Augusta taxi driver, during a robbery. He would have been the seventh teen-ager executed in Georgia this year.

Before the governor acted, the youth's mother, Mrs. Ruby P. Anderson, issued a desperate plea for his life from a cell in the same prison. She is serving two to four years for slipping a gun to her son after he was jailed.

Hizzoner Assists Burglar In Denver

DENVER, (AP)—William Hubert Riley, 35, told Dist. Judge Edward C. Day he'd like a little jail sentence to "straighten himself out," and the court accommodated him. Judge Day sentenced Riley to a 15-month to 10-year prison term for burglary.

Water collecting on the top of the ice sometimes found a hole and, filtering through, gradually formed a large funnel-like opening to the bottom. The sand and gravel, which the running water was carrying, was deposited at the bottom of this hole, where it remained after all the ice had disappeared. Such mounds are known as kames. But the kettle and the kames only accounts for very little of the gravel at this point.

The great ridge, or esker, running for quite a distance along the east side of the Scioto River, is almost entirely made up of gravel and sand. And if you will go out and look at the excavation at Sturn and Dillard's, you will see how deep this material is—remembering the lake is more than 60 feet deep.

The Circleville Esker was formed by a swiftly moving river at the bottom or underneath the ice, thus creating a great tunnel and depositing gravel, sand and clay in ridges and bars along its course.

When the ice retreated by melting, all of this material remained, marking where this great cavernous river once flowed. See what we mean when we say that Sturn and Dillard's merchandise is a bit old-fashioned—having been in stock quite some time?

A Cry Out of the Depths

MAN PLEADS WITH GOD THAT HIS PRAYERS MAY BE HEARD, CONFIDENT OF FORGIVENESS

Scripture—Psalms 86; 130.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

"OUT of the depths have I cried unto Thee, O Lord. Lord, hear my voice; let Thine ears be attentive to the voice of my supplications."

How many in deep trouble have so cried to the Lord for aid all down the centuries since these words were first written! Men and women who never attend church, never pray, turn to their Maker when deep trouble or tragedy strikes, and ask His help.

The saying coined during wartime, that "there are no atheists in foxholes," is just as true of everyone in trouble.

The lesson is rather a difficult one for small children. They might be asked how many of them say their prayers when they go to bed; how many talk to Jesus in the morning when they wake to a new day.

The evening prayer might well begin by asking their Father in heaven to forgive them their wrong doings during the day, and to help them to be better. In the morning they might thank Jesus for a new day, the comforts they enjoy and the love of parents, relatives and friends.

Also they could thank the Maker for the beauty of the world in which they live, and, if the comforts mentioned are not theirs, for His help in bearing their trials and in so living that their lives may be acceptable in was not a military watchman, but to the "custom of the Levites who kept the night watch in the temple appointed to watch for the moment of dawn, when the daily sacrifice was to be offered." The dawn brought them not only release from work, but the blessing of the renewal of God's mercy.

"Let Israel hope in the Lord; for with the Lord there is mercy, and with Him is plenteous redemption. And He shall redeem Israel from all his iniquities."

Psalms 86 is "A prayer of David," and you remember David's sin in coveting another man's wife, commanding that the husband be sent to the front of battle that he might be killed so David could marry the wife.

David was punished for his evil, and forgiven, but in this prayer he cries to the Lord to be merciful, "For Thou art good, and ready to forgive; and plenteous in mercy unto all them that call upon Thee."

"Among the gods there is none like unto Thee, O Lord; and there are no works like Thy works."

"All nations whom Thou hast made shall come and worship before Thee, O Lord; and shall glorify Thy name. For Thou art great, and doest wondrous things; Thou art God alone."

A prayer for us all to remember and repeat continually is David's plea:

MEMORY VERSE

"For Thou, Lord, art good, and ready to forgive; and plenteous in mercy unto all them that call upon Thee."—Psalm 86:5.

His sight.
"If Thou, Lord, shouldst mark iniquities, O Lord, who shall stand? But there is forgiveness with Thee."

May I quote from Shakespeare's Merchant of Venice? It seems pertinent to our text:

Though justice be thy plea, consider this,

That in the course of justice none of us

Should see salvation: we do pray for mercy;

And that same prayer doth teach us all to render

The deeds of mercy.

Isn't it odd that we pray for forgiveness for our sins, and expect our heavenly Father to forgive us, but we are often so slow to show mercy to others?

"I wait for the Lord, my soul doth wait, and in His word do I hope."

"My soul waiteth for the Lord more than they that watch for the morning."

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Psalms 86; 130.

By Alfred J. Buescher

"Out of the depths have I cried unto Thee, O Lord. Lord, hear my voice. If Thou, Lord, shouldst mark iniquities who shall stand? But there is forgiveness with Thee."

"My soul waiteth for the Lord more than they that watch for the morning." The Levite watchman in his tower watched for the morning when the first sacrifice would be offered.

"Among gods there is none like unto Thee, O Lord; neither are there any works like unto Thy works. All nations shall come and worship before Thee and glorify Thy name."

"Teach me Thy way, O Lord; I will walk in Thy truth; I will praise Thee, O Lord, with all my heart, for great is Thy mercy toward me."

Christmas Gifts Returned To Girls

MEMPHIS (AP)—Sandra, 8, and Barbara, 7, had their Christmas gifts back today.

A department store had police repossess the $78.16 worth of presents Wednesday when it learned the girls' father Lee Carpenter had paid for the gifts with a forged check.

Store Manager Henry Kaplan returned the gifts Wednesday night. "I talked it over with the store owners," he said, "and we all agreed the little girls should have their Christmas gifts back."

"We don't want to be the folks to destroy any child's faith in Santa Claus."

Carpenter, 27-year-old plumber, has been held to the state on three counts of forgery.

ANSWERS NEEDED

DO MOTORISTS cheat when they approach a stop sign? Results of a survey conducted by a social psychology class in a small Midwest college show that the majority of them do. On the basis of 1,675 observed instances, the students report that 48 per cent of the motorists obeyed the letter of the law, 36 per cent slowed down considerably and looked in both directions, but failed to come to a complete stop, and 13 per cent merely looked. The remaining four per cent ran past the stop sign without giving any indication it was there.

The survey points up one important phase of motoring that is implicated in greater or lesser degree in nearly every vehicular accident—the driver's sense of responsibility. Whether the laws of safe usage of streets are observed is rooted in this all-vital attitude of the individual.

Either he or she is conditioned to observe the law without further incentive—such as fear of apprehension or the spur of praise—or is possessed of an irresponsible sense that can only be chastened by an accident.

Driving, fundamentally, is one of the most advanced challenges of good citizenship. Yet people who wouldn't think of breaking the law often do so without a twinge of conscience when they get behind the wheel of an automobile.

CUSTOMER PORTIONS

IT IS ANNOUNCED in New York, which vies with Hollywood in the origination of American customs, that restaurants and hotels which serve food are buying in units of individual customer portions instead of by the pound.

Restaurateurs call this "portion control" and claim it saves them money. It aids them in pricing meals accurately because there is no variation in the amounts served.

This will not be resisted too strenuously by the customers if portions bear some relation to reality—that is, if enough green beans are served with the steak to fill up around the corners. Or if the shrimp isn't doled out more and more grudgingly and the ice cream dippers do not become progressively smaller as avidity for profits wins over normal customer appetites.

If this customer portion idea is carried to the usual ultimate conclusion, many restaurant patrons may feel like the hungry Indian who went to a food counter for a ham sandwich. The girl slapped the meat between two hunks of bread and served what the customer hoped would be a tempting viand.

Looking between the bread slices and dolefully appraising the thinness of the sliver of ham, he exclaimed: "Huh, she dura near missed um."

Government at all levels cost U. S. taxpayers $111,000,000,000 in 1953. Taxation with representation can come high, too.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

While some Americans continue to believe that Red China will separate from Soviet Russia, Mao Tze-tung and his associates have answered the question by proclaiming a new Constitution that follows the Marxist line in every detail. That this should be so is historically inevitable as the Chinese Communist Party has continuously taken an orthodox Marxist position since 1921. The first paragraph of the Preamble clearly states the position:

"The Chinese people, after more than a century of heroic struggle, finally achieved in 1949, under the leadership of the Communist Party of China, their great victory in the people's revolution against imperialism, feudalism and bureaucratic capitalism, thereby ending the long history of oppression and enslavement and setting up the People's Republic of China, a people's democratic dictatorship. The system of people's democracy—new democracy—of the People's Republic of China ensures that China can in a peaceful way eliminate exploitation and poverty and build a prosperous and happy socialist society."

The last paragraph of the Preamble to the Constitution deals with the relations of Red China to Soviet Russia. It is not a matter left to individual judgment; friendship for Russia is the organic law of the land:

"China has already built up an indestructible friendship with the great Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and the People's Democracies; the friendship between our people and peace-loving people throughout the world is growing day by day."

The form of government adopted is described as "democratic centralism," the current Soviet substitute for the "dictatorship of the proletariat." "Democratic centralism" means that while the officialdom is chosen at a so-called democratic election, the control is from the top down, requiring a blind and abject obedience to the dictates of those in control of government.

Article 4 of Chapter I specifically says: "...through socialist industrialization and socialist reconstruction, (the state) ensures the gradual abolition of the exploiting system and the building of a socialist society."

Article 10 explains the method for the abolition of capitalism.

Recognizing temporarily private ownership, Article 6 states:

"...The state ensures priority of development for the state sector of the economy. All mineral resources and waters, as well as forests, undeveloped land and other resources which the state owns by law, are the property of the whole people."

Article 8 has this to say of landlords:

"The policy of the state towards kulak enterprise is one of restriction and gradual elimination."

As to the rights of landlords and capitalists as individuals, Article 19 states:

"The state deprives feudal landlords and bureaucratic capitalists of political rights for a specified period, in accordance with the law, at the same time providing them with opportunities to earn a livelihood, so that they may reform themselves by work and become citizens living by their own labor."

In a word, landlords and bureaucratic capitalists become in Red China, as they were in the early days of Soviet Russia, secondary citizens with limited civil rights. The term, "bureaucratic capitalists," as used in this Constitution is puzzling. By it they mean large companies, corporations, mostly foreign-owned.

SYNOPSIS

If the three heirs to old Josh Trevett's sizeable upstate New York farm remain on it for at least three months after his death, each will inherit one-third of the land. Those leaving sooner must relinquish their share or shares to those remaining, and a resident to be awarded the entire farm. So when old Josh died, his kin were notified and copies of his will mailed them. In the late spring, we find Jennie Todd, an inheritor, spinning at the Trevett place, making ready her quarters in the rambling old farmhouse, and being assisted by Wick Middleton, executor of the Trevett estate.

CHAPTER EIGHT

IT WAS after 4, so Wick did not stop at his office but drove on to his home. Though he had lived in it 41 years, there was always a pleasantly satisfying feeling in turning into its driveway under the big maple trees, knowing the comfort that awaited him in the big, homely old house. His cousin Nettie was cooking supper.

Nettie had said, when she came after his mother had died 15 years ago: "I'll stay until you find yourself a wife, Wick." But he had not found anyone he wanted to marry. The town said it was because Nettie took too good care of him. His friends teased him about it. "Look at you! Ten pounds overweight!"

Nettie had friends in the town—sometimes he had heard it suggested that Jim Meese might be more than a friend but had laughed at it, for Jim was as set a bachelor as he was.

He always went into the house through the kitchen door. Nettie was in the kitchen. "You're home early, Wick."

"Yes, I drove up to the Trevett farm. One of the nieces has come—drove in, while I was there, in Ed's taxi. Jennie Todd—the unmarried one."

"What did that mean, Wick?"

"All it means is that she is in her wing of the house." He added: "Ahead of her right to be there." The legality of it did not bother Nettie. "It's nice one of them came, the way Josh wanted them to!" Then she exclaimed: "My goodness, Wick! I forgot—there's a telegram come for you. Pete Morey brought it here when he couldn't find you at the office. I put it on your table in the sitting-room." She hurried to get it.

Wick read it. "My word! Another one's coming..."

"Another what?"

"Another of Josh's heirs. The other niece."

He read the telegram aloud: "Arriving by motor with daughter late Thursday afternoon. Please reserve rooms with bath for us at best hotel, for such length of time as it will take to put my part of the Trevett homestead in liveable order. Please engage reliable woman to clean place and house-keeper for the summer. Hester Wilmer."

"Sounds like she may be a little uppity," commented Nettie.

Wick began to laugh. "Our best hotel! Wait 'till she sees the Buck House here!"

Nettie said: "Wick, they can't go there! It isn't even clean! They'll have to come here."

"Here!" He looked at her in horror. "Are you crazy, Net? I've an idea this Hester Wilmer is a tough one to take."

Nettie shook her reproving finger at him. "Now don't go jumping to conclusions about someone you've not laid an eye on! They can have the two front rooms. I won't mind a bit giving them meals. And I'll speak to Mrs. Dean tomorrow about the cleaning up there. She needs work."

Near noon the next day a thick-set, sandy-haired man opened Wick's office door, came hesitantly into the room and asked: "You're the lawyer Middleton?"

Wick said: "Yes. And you are—Thomas Todd?" He barely made it a question, so certain was he that the third heir would appear.

"No, I'm Dan Dooley, friend of Tommy's. A good friend, Tommy couldn't come so I come and brought Tommy's girl. She's down in my truck, waiting. Thought I ought to speak to you before I drive her up to that place."

"Sit down, Mr. Dooley. The will hasn't been probated. I sent a waiver to Thomas Todd to sign. I haven't had it returned to me. This girl cannot occupy those quarters up there until these technicalities are covered, the estate proportioned out. Then only if her father chooses to meet the provisions of Jehosaphat Trevett's will. She herself, has no claim on it."

Dan Dooley sat down on the edge of a chair, a puzzled concern on his face. "I don't know nothing about law but I thought what was Tommy's was Cindy's."

Wick was thinking he never had seen more honest eyes than this man's, fixed on him, asking something, asking it in desperation. He said: "Is there any reason why it was imperative that you bring the girl now?"

Dooley said: "The girl had to go somewhere—there was only this place to come to. Heard of it in the nick of time, it seemed. Or so Brigit said. We're Cindy's guardians, sort of, Brigit and me. Tommy brought her to us when she wasn't much more than a baby and we've reared her. She's a good girl, 19 now. Through school and graduated head of her class..."

He saw Dan swallow as if he was hard to say what he had to say. "Tommy's in trouble just now. It looks bad—this time."

"Under arrest?"

"Heid, they call it. And the girl doesn't know. She would it she stayed with us there in Covington. The paper'd be full of it, for Covington was—well, you could say Tommy's head office. We've kept her from knowing all along what Tommy's business was."

"Gambling?" asked Wick.

Dan nodded. "Some. Horse racing. Numbers. But it's these here pin-ball machines now. They got up a syndicate—covers as far as the west coast. They got them, though, in St. Louis. Someone started a big hullabaloo there. You see Tommy works under another name—Richard Cornelius. But it'll come out who he is and Cindy'll know."

Wick said: "Has she any funds, Dooley? She can get nothing from the estate as things are just now."

"I've brought the money she's been earning. I'll leave it with her. It'll keep her for some weeks. She's good at cooking."

Dan got to his feet. "I'll drive her up if you'll tell me the road to take. I figure to see her sort of settled before I start back. I'll sleep in the truck tonight—go at daybreak." Then he drew a big envelope from his pocket, slightly

news behind the news

WASHINGTON—Many Democratic politicians here privately fear that today's New Orleans session for selection of a new party chairman and promotion of harmony may reopen wounds and revive differences between the Northern liberal and Southern conservative factions. Arranged by the Stevenson-Mitchell forces, the meeting has a New Dealish coloration.

The most prominent figures in attendance and on the speakers' program are devoted admirers and supporters of the Roosevelt-Truman political, social and economic program, which is extremely unpopular below the Mason and Dixon Line. Their appearance is understandable because it was in the North—Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania—that the Democrats made their greatest gains in the November election.

Comparatively few southern state executives accepted National Chairman Mitchell's original invitations. It may be an exaggeration to suggest that they are boycotting the convocation, but it is obvious that they are not too delighted with this apologetic invasion of their domain by men still regarded as "political carpetbaggers."

HARRIMAN—Governor-elect Averell Harriman, for obvious reasons, has been booked as the star performer.

But it does not require an elephantine memory, although they have it, for certain Southern leaders—Byrd of Virginia, George Russell of Georgia, Byrnes of South Carolina, Shivers of Texas—to recall that Harriman asked Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. to become a member of his New York cabinet. And it was young F.D.R. who headed the movement to oust Dixie's delegations from the 1952 convention.

Two other feature attractions are Governor-elect Orville L. Freeman of Minnesota and Senator-elect Patrick V. McNamara of Michigan. As a Democrat-Farmer-Labor champion and an American Federation of Labor official, respectively, both represent elements distasteful to the South.

GOP PARLEY—The south's new importance in the changing political system is reflected in the fact that the Republicans' selection of Houston as the site of a national committee parley constitutes a definite bid to that section. Once taken for granted by the Democrats and ignored by the GOP, this flourishing area is now a supposedly debatable battleground on the national level.

The Republicans think they have a chance to make new gains in the 1956 presidential election. They won a congressional seat in Texas last month, and retained four out of five House places in Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee.

POSITION—In South Carolina, former Governor J. Strom Thurmond, a write-in candidate, won the senatorial contest over the regular organization's nominee. Thurmond was entered in the race by Governor Byrnes,

Business And Professional Club Has 31st Anniversary

Jean Shea Is Guest Speaker

The Business and Professional Women of Circleville celebrated the thirty-first anniversary of the club with a dinner and program held Thursday evening in the social rooms of the Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Paul R. Brown read the club collect, which preceded the dinner, served by the Presbyterian Women's Association. Miss Donna Mitchell at the piano provided dinner music.

Mrs. Richard Jones, club president, gave a welcome to the nearly seventy members and guests who had assembled for the occasion. Guests were present from Greenfield, Washington C. H., Williamsport, Circleville and Columbus.

Following the dinner, group singing of Christmas carols was led by Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh. Mrs. Lillian Avis served as accompanist.

Miss Ann Gordon presented the charter members of the club, who are: Mrs. Anna Chandler, Miss Mary Howard, Miss Minnie Palm, Miss Nella Palm, Mrs. Irma Stevenson and Mrs. Esther Work.

Mrs. Jones gave a brief resume of the history of the 31 years of the club and plans for the immediate future of the organization. She stated that the club has been noted both for leadership and for cooperation with other organizations.

The club was founded in 1923 by Miss Mary Wilder, city librarian, four years after the first national organization meeting, which was held in St. Louis.

Among the many activities of the club during the years, Mrs. Jones noted that several musicals and plays were given by the members.

A club song book was published in 1927, containing an original song written by Miss Clara Southward. A historical pageant, written by Mrs. Chandler, was given by the local club during a national meeting in 1929.

The ministers of Circleville were entertained by the group, and the soldiers stationed at Lockbourne Air Force Base were guests of the club during the war years.

Among the most recent accomplishments of the group, according to Mrs. Jones, was the contribution of $100 to a National Home fund.

Christmas selections on an electric guitar were presented at intervals during the evening by Lewis Brevard of the Mount of Praise Bible School.

Mrs. Jean Crow Shea served as guest speaker for the evening, presenting a narrated film on the behind-the-scenes activities of a telecast.

Mrs. Shea, who grew up in Circleville, stated that her last visit to the Presbyterian church had been her wedding, 16 years ago. She is the mother of two children, a son and daughter, and raises St. Bernard dogs as a hobby.

The speaker stated that her dogs were the immediate cause of her entrance into the television business. Her first appearance on television was in a guest discussion of her hobby of raising dogs. She noted that one of her dogs now is appearing on a popular family-type program.

Among the many shows on television, Mrs. Shea reminded her listeners to note the number of programs aimed at assisting the ladies of the house, both in tips on homemaking and in serving as baby-sitters for the small children.

The film depicted many of the problems encountered during a show, which, stated Miss Shea, must be perfected prior to the telecast, as once said or done there is no way of undoing the mistakes.

Programs are scheduled and planned six weeks in advance of actual presentation, and local talent is used on most homemaking shows to add interest and variety to the program. At least six hours of preparation go into each half hour show which is presented on television.

Mrs. Shea was assisted in her narration and film showing, by Mrs. Anne Hunsicker, home economist for the television station.

Guests at the event included: Mrs. Stella Winegar of Greenfield, director of District 10, and Miss Olive Wheaton, also of Greenfield; Mrs. Loretta Keeler and Mrs. Ruth Snyder, both of Williamsport, and Mrs. Harry Crow of Circleville, mother of Mrs. Shea.

Mrs. Howard Dellinger, president of the Washington C. H. club, Mrs. Marie Williams, Miss Mary Frances Snider, Miss Garnet Huston, Miss Grace Huston, Mrs. Fred Shoop, Miss Margaret Smith and Miss Faye Nelson, all of Washington C. H.

Favorite luncheon casserole: sliced hard-cooked egg teamed with drained canned asparagus and cream sauce. Top with buttered crumbs and grated cheddar cheese and heat until bubbly in a moderate oven.

Christmas gifts were brought, to be sent to the Henderson Settlement in Kentucky.

Lunch was served from a table centered with a large cornucopia overflowing with fruits and flowers, emblematic of the bountiful harvest of the year. There were 30 members and guests present.

Pythian Sisters Past Chiefs Club Elects Officers

Mrs. Mary Talbot was hostess to members of the Past Chiefs Club of Pythian Sisters in her home on Watt St., when election of officers was held.

Mrs. Irvin Reid was re-elected president of the group, Miss Clara Talbot, vice president, and Miss Nellie Bolender, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Reid presided at the session, which opened with a salute to the Flag and the Lord's Prayer. The group voted to contribute to the Medina Home and to prepare Christmas baskets for needy families.

The program for the session, opened with the Bible story of Christmas and a reading, "Hold On to the Christmas Glow." Mrs. Merle Lape presented puzzles for the members to complete and Christmas carols were sung by the group.

Highlight of the program was an exchange of Christmas gifts, when the mystery sisters for the past year were revealed. New names were drawn for mystery sisters for the coming year.

Refreshments, served by the hostess, completed the evening.

The next meeting will be held Jan. 5 in the home of Mrs. Edgar Carmean of E. Franklin St.

Mrs. Armstrong Hosts Meet Of Church Society

Mrs. George H. Armstrong and Miss Florence Bowsher were hostesses to the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Adelphi Methodist Church in the former's home in Saltcreek Township.

Mrs. Horace Hubble, club president, was in charge of the meeting. A report was given of the dinner served by the Society at a district meeting of the Pythian Sisters.

Mrs. Alma Archer was devotion leader and was assisted by Mrs. O. B. Armstrong and Mrs. Helen Rodocker.

Mrs. Homer Reber of Ashville, conference secretary of missionary service, was guest speaker. Also present was Mrs. W. R. Sunderland of Kingston, group leader of Chillicothe District. Mrs. Ralph Dunkle of near Ashville presented several musical numbers, playing her own accompaniment. Included were a Thanksgiving hymn and Negro spirituals.

Christmas gifts were brought, to be sent to the Henderson Settlement in Kentucky.

Lunch was served from a table centered with a large cornucopia overflowing with fruits and flowers, emblematic of the bountiful harvest of the year. There were 30 members and guests present.

Junior Women Have Mock Trial At Men's Night Fete

The dining room of the Wardell Party Home became the Junior Women's Court of Pickaway County in which the case of Phillips vs. Merritt was heard Thursday evening following an annual "Men's Night" dinner of Junior Women's Club.

The dinner was served at three long tables each of which was centered by three candy striped candles surrounded by greenery. Individual places were marked by candy canes and greenery.

Members of the committee planning the affair were: Mrs. Walter Yamarick, Mrs. John Griffith, Mrs. Russell Ward, Mrs. Ray Friend, Mrs. Henry Swope and Mrs. Paul R. Porter.

Following the dinner the president, Mrs. Richard Penn introduced two new members: Mrs. William Speakman and Mrs. Francis Wirth and their husbands. She then introduced members of the Pickaway County Bar Association who conducted a mock trial based on an auto accident which occurred in a movie shown recently in Circleville.

Common Pleas Judge William Radcliff presided. Attorneys William Ammer, Kenneth Robbins, Richard Penn and Probate Judge George D. Young planned the roles of attorney for the plaintiff, attorney for the defendant, Clerk of Court, and bailiff, respectively.

Mrs. Louis Wuest appeared as the plaintiff, Helen Phillips, and Dr. Henry Swope was the defendant, Robert Merritt. Witnesses were: Harry Turner, as the driver of the taxi from which Mrs. Phillips jumped to escape the defendant; Mrs. Sam Smith (Mrs. Kenneth Luna), driver of the car which struck the door of the taxi injuring Mrs. Phillips, and Dr. Paul Jackson as Dr. Ardmore, Mrs. Phillips's physician.

Members of the jury were Mr. and Mrs. Milton Patterson, Mrs. William Speakman, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Wirth, Dr. William Riecke, Mrs. Sterling Poling, Mrs. Harry Turner, Mrs. Paul Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ward and Mrs. Ray Friend. Mrs. Paul R. Porter was questioned as a prospective juror and excused.

A verdict was rendered in favor of the defendant since no action of his could in any way be declared to be the proximate cause of the accident which, it was alleged, left the plaintiff totally blind.

Club members and their guests voted the program one of the most enlightening and entertaining they have had and all agreed that they felt they would make better jurors or witnesses as a result of participating in the program.

Mrs. Robbins and Mrs. Young were additional guests for the dinner and program. Club members and guests present in addition to those already mentioned were: Mr. and Mrs. Richard Funk, Mr. and Mrs. George Macklin, Kenneth Luna, Paul R. Porter, Mrs. William Riecke, Louis Wuest, and Sterling Poling.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The unanswered question about Sen. McCarthy is not whether he will go on as before—he says he will—but whether he can so handle himself that he won't get tied down again as he was in 1954.

In the past he made headlines hunting Communists. This year he made headlines but not so much for hunting Communists. The hunting was thoroughly interrupted by the Army-McCarthy hearings and the hearings and debate on censure.

He had to spend most of 1954 defending himself. But at the very moment he said he would continue as before, he recalled he had been repeatedly investigated and predicted he'd get more of the same again.

Since he will not change, he says, and will still hunt Communists, although being so much himself got him into knots that ended the hunting, then his problem is how to be himself so smartly that he can't be interrupted or tied down.

He can't claim he was smart in all he did this year. At the very moment he was up to his neck defending himself against censure, he put on a brand new performance which made censure a certainty.

McCarthy, like anyone else, acts and speaks out of his own personality. It was being so consistently McCarthy, and therefore unique in American politics, that he gained fame and a following.

Both might desert him if he tried to change his ways—which may seem to him a good reason for not trying—by showing more restraint in his accusations and more respect for other people, at least senators.

No matter what the compulsions of his personality may seem, he can show restraint when he wants to or feels he has to. He demonstrated that when he went before the Senate committee investigating censure charges against him.

Before this committee, headed by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), McCarthy yielded not an inch to criticism. But his conduct was almost subdued, and most of the time respectful, when compared with some of his other performances.

McCarthy was in a peculiar situation then. The Watkins committee had been created by the whole Senate to determine whether his conduct toward senators and others had been contemptuous.

If he had been contemptuous of the Watkins committee it not only might have prejudiced the members against him—he said some were already prejudiced—but it might have given added ammunition to those foes who said he was contemptuous.

So long as the committee had not made a report, there was a chance it might turn out in his favor. Until that report came out condemning his conduct McCarthy treated the committee with a fair amount of respect.

It recommended he be censured for (A) contemptuous conduct toward a previous committee which had investigated his finances and (B) for abusive treatment of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker.

Once Watkins made his report there seemed little chance McCarthy could beat censure in the whole Senate. But it wasn't final. He could have fought on constitutional and other grounds. He threw the chance away.

He was so nettled by the Watkins' report—the worst setback he had ever suffered—that he attacked the committee collectively and individually, calling Watkins stupid and cowardly and the committee the "unwitting handmaiden" of the Communist party.

Senate reaction stormed against

Baby Boy Saved From Soapy Barrel

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP)—Year-old Ricky Rosen had stopped breathing and was turning blue yesterday when his mother pulled him from a trash barrel full of soapy water. Mrs. Jerome Rosen called firemen but managed to restore his breathing by the time a first aid squad arrived.

Ricky, treated by a family doctor, was fully recovered and resting well last night. Mrs. Rosen was scrubbing out the barrel and stopped to enter the house for a moment. Ricky apparently lost his balance and fell head-first into the barrel while trying to reach the soapy suds.

Department Store Santa Is Robbed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—While Santa Claus was out front in downtown department store entertaining the kiddies today, a sneak thief made off with his wallet and $200 watch from his extra pair of pants in the dressing room.

Santa, in the person of Paul K. Hollman, 55, told police the wallet contained $6 and personal papers.

him. Shortly after this McCarthy went to the hospital with a bruised elbow for a week. His stay in the hospital gave him time to reflect on the damage he had done himself.

At the very moment when he was defending himself against the charge that he was contemptuous of the Senate—for his treatment of the previous committee—he proved he was contemptuous by his treatment of the Watkins' committee.

At least that's the way the Senate understood it for it condemned him yesterday for being contemptuous of both committees while throwing out the charge that he had abused Gen. Zwicker.

It's McCarthy's choice of words toward the Senate which got him into trouble. He showed, at the Watkins' committee hearings, he can control his language if he wants to.

'Sympathy' Costs Men Fine Of $25

BALTIMORE (AP)—Walter Becker argued that he was sympathetic, not amorous. Nevertheless, magistrate William F. Laukaitis fined the real estate man $25 for trying to kiss a 42-year-old mother.

Mrs. Laura Gray told Laukaitis the 33-year-old Becker put his arm around her and tried to kiss her while she was showing him an apartment across the hall from her own. Becker, who is married and father of two children, said Mrs. Gray had complained of a pain in her arm and he might have placed his hands on her shoulder in sympathy.

SALISBURY, Md. (AP)—A Wicomico County couple has won an award of $10,850 from the state which took about one acre of their land for dualization of busy U.S.3, main north-south route of the Delmarva Peninsula.

The award, by a Circuit Court jury, was 20 times the original offer made by the state roads commission to Mr. and Mrs. William H. Jackson who live south of Salisbury. The commission later admitted it had made a mistake.

Red Press Raps Playing Of Cards

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet press for many months has been denouncing drinking and smoking. Now it has begun to condemn card playing as an evil relic of capitalism, a crime breeder and a corrupter of the character of the Soviet man.

The magazine Young Communist reports all sorts of crime and character erosion arise out of card playing, including drinking and murder, and that "card playing is incompatible with the Soviet way of life."

Sokolsky's These Days

Chapter III of the Constitution is a Bill of Rights which, while adapted to special conditions in Red China, closely follows the Constitution of Soviet Russia. The rights to work, to leisure and to social security are guaranteed. Article 100 reads:

"Citizens of the People's Republic of China must abide by the Constitution and the law, observe labor discipline and public order and respect social ethics."

By observing "labour discipline" the worker renounces his right to strike or even to object to Stakhanovism which is the Soviet method of speed-up. It reduces the worker to a slave of the state which alone determines wages, hours and working conditions. What specifically is meant by "social ethics" depends upon the interpretation of the moment.

For instance, when Zhadanov was the arbiter of social ethics in the Soviet Union, he determined what music could properly be composed and what literature could be written. The theory is the same in all Marxist countries, although the application of social ethics cannot wholly be divorced from local custom.

Ohio Farm Bureau Chieftain To Quit

COLUMBUS (AP)—Everett F. Rittenour, Piketon, president of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation since 1949, plans to retire.

The farm leader, fourth president of OFBF, made his announcement on the eve of his organization's 36th annual meeting to open here Sunday.

Rittenour, who has represented farmers from Jackson, Lawrence,

Scioto and Pike counties on the state Farm Bureau board since 1929, helped organize his native Pike County Farm Bureau as well as the state organization.

Small College Football Value Lauded By Star

Standout On Little All-America Team Depicts Opportunity

NEW YORK (AP)—Is football on the small college level worthwhile to the players?

You will get a quick, firm "yes" from William (Bill) McKenna of Brandeis, who was named an end on The Associated Press' Little All-America team today.

McKenna arrived at the Waltham, Mass., college, one of the country's youngest colleges, four years ago from Salem, Mass. He stretched two inches over six feet and weighed 165 pounds. Bennie Friedman, the one-time Michigan star, couldn't find a spot for McKenna on the offensive platoon.

So McKenna played defense. Between football seasons McKenna either wrestled, did weight lifting or road work every day with the result that he now is a strapping 6-3 and 210 pounds of muscles.

He also developed in football. Unable to make the offense platoon in 1951, he was the team's leading scorer in two of his final three years.

Friedman says McKenna now is so good "that no matter who plays tackle beside him or backer-up behind him they all three look good." And Jack Kelleher of the Los Angeles Rams says "what a pair of hands. We want him."

Sharing the 1954 Little All American honors with McKenna are stars from 10 other colleges. The other end is R. C. Owens of The College of Idaho, the only junior on the first team.

The tackles are Joe Veto of Juniata and Larry Paradis of Whitworth. Stokeley Fulton, Hampden Sydney's inspiration, is at center, flanked by guards Robert Patterson of Memphis State and Gene Nel of Gustavus Adolphus.

Richard Young of Chattanooga, already drafted by the Chicago Cardinals, holds down the fullback slot with his 200 pounds.

Alvin Beal, quarterback for Texas A. & M., has not been beaten since 1952. He is at quarterback with Don Miller, sparkplug of bowl-bound Delaware, at one of the remaining backfield berths. The fourth goes to Leo Lewis of Lincoln (Mo.) University, the only repeater from the 1953 team.

Lewis, who starred for four years at the Missouri College, virtually re-wrote the NCAA record book while doing so. He gained 4,458 yards rushing for one record; scored 64 touchdowns to wipe out marks of 59 set by Army's Glen Davis and Carl Tasseff of John Carroll and also erased the modern scoring records of both Tasseff and Davis.

Lewis registered 465 points. Davis's 354 was the previous top among players at major colleges while Tasseff's 355 was the previous high among all modern players. Both Tasseff and Davis, like Lewis, played four years.

Thirty-two different colleges landed players on the first three

Jersey Stable Is Top Buyer Of Yearlings

COLUMBUS—The Allwood Stable of Far Hills, N. J., was the leading purchaser of harness horse yearlings in 1954, the U. S. Trotting Association said today.

Allwood Stable adviser Thomas W. Murphy, retired trainer, made the final bid on eight trotting and pacing youngsters for a total outlay of $141,000.

Runnerup was Sol Camp of Shafter, Calif., who paid $90,500 for seven head. A year ago Camp was the top yearling purchaser and the New Jersey stable ranked 2nd.

Included among the Allwood yearlings, who will be trained and driven by young Ned Bower of Ravenna, was The Intruder, a Scotland colt which went for $35,000, top price paid for a yearling in 1954.

The Allwood Stable also went to $25,000 for the Adios filly Way Dream, most ever paid for a yearling pacing filly, and $25,000 for Barlow Hanover, a Hoot Mon colt, the most ever paid for the first foal of a mare.

Camp's top price was $25,500 for Solicitor General, a King's Counsel full brother to Solicitor. The California went to $25,000 for Blythe Hanover, a Hoot Mon filly, which represented a record for a yearling trotting filly.

Rounding out the list of leading purchasers was the Castleton Farm of Lexington, $64,000 for 10 head; Paul Wixom, Chicago, $57,000 for four head; and Clearview table, Winthrop, Me., $48,600 for seven head.

Saxton-Fuentes Bout Unexciting

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It isn't fair to knock two guys who tried to make something out of nothing for 10 rounds, but the fact remains today that the non-title welterweight match between the champion, Johnny Saxton, and the No. 3 challenger, Ramon Fuentes, was filled with unexcitement.

The outcome found the champ from Brooklyn the winner by a unanimous decision.

It also eliminated any public clamor for a return match for the title, for at the finish both guys were in danger of getting hit with wadded-up paper cups sent flying by an impatient gallery.

438 Standardbreds Bring $265,765

DELAWARE (AP)—Bidders paid a total of $265,765 for 438 trotters and pacers during the annual three-day fall speed sale of standardbred horses which ended here yesterday.

Top price yesterday was $5,000 paid for Queen's Choice, 2-year-old pacer colt, which won eight races in Illinois in 1954.

teams. All 33 members of the honored elevens will receive engraved scrolls from The Associated Press attesting to their gridiron ability.

Restricted Grid TV Setup Urged

CHICAGO (AP)—Recommendation of continued restricted football television at the national level will be made to the annual National Collegiate Athletic Assn. Convention next month by the NCAA television committee.

The TV committee yesterday ended a two-day session of reviewing the 1954 television plan and drafting a report on it for the convention in New York Jan. 5-7.

"The recommendation for carrying national controls will leave the specific plan for 1955 football television up to the new TV committee to be named later," said Walter Byers, NCAA executive director.

Little Deaf Mute To Test Delaware '11

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—A little deaf mute who talks with pounding feet will test one of the nation's most rugged defenses Sunday in the seventh annual Refrigerator Bowl football game.

Lou Mariano, Kent State University's 5-foot-7 fullback, has averaged 115 yards per game by rushing. He'll be running Sunday against a University of Delaware team that limited nine opponents to an average of less than 80 yards on the ground.

Mariano's performance this fall for the Ohio school included 14 touchdowns and two conversions. He broke away for a 99-yard sprint, a Mid-American Conference record, against Western Reserve.

In that Western Reserve game, Lou gained 226 yards all by himself and carried the ball only 10 times. He weighs 162 pounds.

Kent's Golden Flashes have been emphasizing pass defense in practice this week because of Delaware's quarterback Don Miller, who was named to the Associated Press Little All-America today.

Miller holds the college career record of 36 touchdown passes. This year he has completed 60 of 103 for 1,022 yards and seven touchdowns. His grand total is 220 of 390 for 3,108 yards.

Delaware lost two games by extra points, 14-13 to both Muhlenberg and Gettysburg on successive weekends. It defeated West Chester, 40-6; Lehigh 21-0; Temple 51-13; New Hampshire 19-13; Connecticut 28-7; Lafayette 41-7, and Bucknell 20-0.

Kent's only loss was to Ohio University 14-7. It defeated Wayneburg 26-0; Western Reserve 65-0; Baldwin Wallace 52-7; Marshall 41-20; Bowling Green, 28-25; Akron 58-18; John Carroll, 27-14, and Western Michigan 20-13.

Dave Parks, head football coach at Columbus Central High School, is retiring after 29 years on his present job. Frank Howe, his chief assistant, will take over head coaching duties.

Three Texas League baseball teams—Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio—trained in Florida last spring.

5 Major Colleges Seeking New Head Football Pilots

The Associated Press

The last of the 1954 football year has not yet been hung up but already five major colleges and at least one minor school are looking for a new head coach.

The unexpected resignation of Ed Danowski at Fordham University yesterday left the fifth major vacancy and there were reports that Harvey Robinson was on his way at Tennessee.

Major college coaches who have been fired or resigned within the last few days include Kip Taylor of Oregon State, Bill Young of Furman and Bernie Wituchi of Tulsa. Red Dawson stepped out at Pittsburgh in midseason because of ill health.

Among the smaller institutions, Norwich in Vermont is in the market for a coach after the resignation of George (Duke) Benz. Young, who also was athletic

Tourney-Wise Cage Teams Show Power

NEW YORK (AP)—Names familiar to college basketball fans when tournament picking time rolls around appeared prominently on the winning side of the scores today.

There was Western Kentucky, the nation's eighth ranked team last year, champions of the Ohio Valley and fourth in the National Invitation Tournament. Also 10th ranked Oklahoma A.M., kingpin of the Missouri Valley and Niagara's Purple Eagles, third in the NIT.

Alongside them were such annually potent powers as Illinois and DePaul.

Al won with comparative ease. Western Kentucky downed Gustavus Adolphus 90-79. Oklahoma Aggies turned back Howard Payne 81-44. Niagara had no trouble with Buffalo State, 81-60. DePaul romped over Kalamazoo 98-46 and Illinois spanked Butler, 88-34.

For Western Kentucky it was the Hilltoppers' 62nd consecutive home court victory.

Baylor had the closest call, just managing to edge Hardin Simmons 67-63. Seven-foot Don Boldebeck tallied 24 points in leading Houston to a 85-63 triumph over the Texas Aggies.

South Carolina brushed aside Georgia 74-54. After a wobbly first half Tulsa beat Creighton, 69-54.

Wake Forest had no trouble with Belmont College of Nashville, Tenn., 96-68. Arizona moved past Arizona State of Flagstaff 68-58.

Sorority Girls Challenge Boys To Football Game

NORMA, Okla. (AP)—The girls of Chi Omega sorority at the University of Oklahoma have challenged Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity to a campus football match.

In accepting, the boys could only utter, "Wow!"

"We're not even going to warm

up," fraternity coach Mike Raia said.

Of course, as girls will, they've rewritten the rule book. The boys must walk, not run, toward the ball carrier; they must count to 10 before rushing the passer; a five-yard penalty will be assessed for hugging; and all fraternity passes (with the ball) must be made with the left hand and caught in one hand.

One thing the girls forgot—

there's no penalty against offensive holding.

Ailing Mustangs Awaiting Irish

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist Mustangs, loaded with injuries and memories of past meeting with Notre Dame, were a crippled but confident football team as they finished preparations for tomorrow's game with the Irish.

The Mustangs, second-place finishers in this year's Southwest Conference race, meet the perennial kings of the nation's independents tomorrow in what local fans are beginning to regard as almost another Cotton Bowl game.

It's one of three contests that always pack the 75,000-seat stadium.

Ryff Given Nod To Top Zulueta

NEW YORK (AP) — Young Frankie Ryff has come up so fast he's a candidate for fight rookie of the year as well as being in line for a shot at the lightweight title.

The 22-year-old New Yorker will get the second big test of his budding career here tonight when he faces 26-year-old Orlando Zulueta. Frankie is the 8-5 choice although the clever Cuban is ranked higher in the division. Zulueta is ranked as the fourth contender and Ryff No. 5.

Others are the Texas-Oklahoma rivalry and the Jan. 1 classic.

Omaha Set For OK As New American Association Spot

HOUSTON, (AP) — Omaha, Neb., was expected to officially become a member of the American Assn. today as the minor league convention comes to a close.

Another development will be the naming of the five-man arbitration board by minor league President George Trautman to settle damages due the Western League for draft of its Denver territory.

On the player end, the Associated Press learned that the Brooklyn team is set to sell veteran third baseman Billy Cox for $50,000 to one of two American League clubs—Baltimore or Cleveland. E. J. Bava, Dodge vice president, also has asked for a couple of minor league farmhands.

The inter-league transaction, in all likelihood, will be consummated at the major league meetings in New York next week. The only current hitch is Brooklyn's inability to get waivers on Cox. It is believed, however, that because of the fancy figure, the Dodgers will receive "gentleman waivers" on the player.

The Dodgers and Cincinnati also were getting closer to completing a player trade that would involve outfielder Jimmy Greengrass or Wally Post and catcher E. C. Bailey of the Reds and second baseman Junior Gilliam and a second line pitcher from the Dodgers.

Only a matter of $25,000 stood between the Western League and the St. Louis Cardinals from concluding a pact that would transfer the Redbirds' Columbus American Assn. franchise to Omaha.

In a secret meeting with St. Louis representatives yesterday the Western League reduced its demand for damages on the release of Omaha from $100,000 to $60,000. The Cardinals countered with an offer of $35,000.

The minor leagues yesterday adopted 11 of the 23 amendments to the major-minor league agreement, passed four of the eight minor league amendments and threw out a resolution to revise or terminate the major-minor league agreement.

The most important piece of legislation passed was the amendment to ban commercial broadcasts and telecasts of baseball games on stations outside a club's home territory. This was subject to approval by the majors.

The minors went a step further by voting to retain the radio-TV, amendment even if the majors reject it.

The minors also adopted an amendment that would lower the player limits and increase the number of options of all clubs from the majors down to Class B. The majors, for instance, would reduce their limit from 25 men to 23 and increase their options from 15 to 17. This, too, must be passed by the majors.

The minors also voted to change the working agreement rule, raising the minimum price for selecting players from a club in Class B, C and D at the end of the season. The majors also would pay spring training costs, traveling expenses for optioned players and a portion of the manager's salary.

Larry Doby of the Cleveland Indians hit a home run in each American League Park during the 1954 season.

Prexy At Cincy Hopes For League

CINCINNATI (AP) — The president of the University of Cincinnati says it is "essential" that UC become a member of an "appropriate athletic conference."

The statement was made in a message from Dr. Raymond Walters, president of the university, who declared the university is working "diligently" toward the objective of a conference affiliation. He did not mention any group but Cincinnati has been mentioned as a possible member of the Missouri Valley loop.

Spaniels Tested In Field Trials

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Twenty three dogs were recalled for two land series and one water series today in the eighth annual National Championship Trials for English springer spaniels.

Sprig of Manning Gulch, owned by Robert McLean of Fort Washington, Pa., and C. Mahlon Kline of Philadelphia, was considered one of the top performers in two land series yesterday. Judges eliminated 11 of the 3 starters after the first day's performance.

Two County Relief Workers Help Avert Human Tragedy

How They Helped Local Man, Ready To Give Up, Appears In Booklet As Touching Case History

Pickaway County's relief workers get little publicity but are responsible for a tremendous amount of humanitarian work.

However, the local office got some very well deserved recognition when a local case history was reported in the November Public Welfare Department publication. The case is the dramatic story of a man, disabled by a heart attack, who all but gave up life itself.

The man was only identified as Mr. North. He was a hard worker in the community, married and the father of two children.

In 1948, Mr. North's health began to fail. His symptoms took on the appearance of a disease affecting the protective covering of the heart. Fluid began to accumulate in the tissues, causing his weight to rise from 136 pounds to 158 pounds.

HE COULD NO LONGER work. The family savings began to dwindle. They finally had to apply for relief.

Miss Pauline Reese, director of the Pickaway County Relief and Aid For Disabled saw to it that food was made available. But this was only a part of the family's problems.

Mrs. Dorothy Downs, case-worker in the Pickaway County Aid To Dependent Children office had Mr. North examined by a doctor who declared the ill man totally unable to work. ADC went into action and the Norths began to receive a monthly allowance.

Repairs on the North house, which was almost completely paid for, were arranged. And Mr. North became eligible for the new Federal Social Security Aid For The Permanent and Totally Disabled. Meanwhile, Mr. North's condition did not improve. Fluid was constantly being removed from his body; at times, the amount reached as much as five gallons at a time.

HE WAS NOW only able to wear very loose clothing. He could not stoop or bend and had to sleep in a chair. And he was no longer able to go to the doctor's office.

A short time later, Miss Reese and Mrs. Downs related Mr. North's condition to Miss Margaret Scholes; she is field counselor of the state bureau of vocational rehabilitation with Pickaway County as part of her territory.

One day, Miss Scholes made a trip to the North home with Miss Reese and Mrs. Downs. One look was all she needed.

On her return to Columbus, Miss

Meeting Planned To Discuss Loans

All local residents who are interested in soil and water conservation loans have been asked to put a mark on their calendars for next Thursday.

At 8 p. m. on that date, a meeting will be held in Pickaway County courthouse to discuss such loans. A public invitation to the meeting was extended by Carnell E. Cope, county supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration branch of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The 83rd Congress legislation which enables both tenants and owners of farm land to secure needed credit for carrying out certain soil and water conservation measures. This program will be administered by the Farmers Home Administration and is designed to aid and assist in soil and water work, by making available a source of credit to those who in the past may have had financing difficulty.

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Dallas County selective service officials have announced that no "greetings from the President" would be sent out from Dec. 21 through Jan. 1.

Well-Heeled Man Freed In Theft

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 55-year-old factory worker with a $10,000 bank account was acquitted yesterday of a charge he stole $5 from a man in a supermarket.

Emile P. Gow was arrested Wednesday after a customer in the store accused Gow of scooping up a $5 bill he had dropped on the floor. When searched by police, Gow was found to be carrying $95 in cash, an uncashed check for $42 and five bank books with deposits totaling $10,000.

Magistrate William F. Laukaitis acquitted Gow with the observation that a man with Gow's wealth would hardly resort to a $5 theft.

McCarthy Condemned By Fellow Senators On 2 Separate Counts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) stood condemned for his conduct today by a 67-22 vote of his Senate colleagues.

The judgment of the Senate was handed down late yesterday and after the vote was in McCarthy declared he was "very happy to get this circus over with."

The "circus" was authorized Aug. 2 when the Senate, by a vote of 75-12, consigned the McCarthy dispute to a special bipartisan committee which was to weigh all accusation hurled against the Wisconsin senator.

At that time, McCarthy urged a speedy report from the special group. He said, "All I want is a vote by the Senate."

The Senate's 75-12 vote creating the inquiry group was opposed by three Republicans, eight Democrats and one independent. All McCarthy's friends voted for it. McCarthy himself voted "present."

The vote adopting a resolution condemning McCarthy's conduct

on two counts capped an extraordinary session of the Senate, begun Nov. 8, that became increasingly tense and bitter.

On the final vote Republican senators divided evenly, 22-22. A solid lineup of 44 Democrats voted for passage of the resolution. So did Sen. Morse of Oregon, the Senate's lone independent.

Thus McCarthy became the first senator since 1929 to suffer an official rebuke from his colleagues for his actions, and the fourth in Senate history.

Despite the sharp Republican split on the issue, some GOP senators said they did not believe it would leave lasting scars within the party.

Sen. Bennett (R-Utah), author of one of the counts adopted by the Senate, said that "I don't think the apparent rift will be too great or too permanent."

Sen. Carlson (R-Kan.), a member of the special committee which recommended censure against McCarthy, said he believes the Republicans will "pull together" once the next session starts, adding it would be "necessary because we will be the minority party."

McCarthy, asked if there were any basis to reports he might break away from the Republican party to form a new party, replied "there's nothing to it."

"I am a Republican and intend to remain a Republican," he said. "And I will do my work within the Republican party because that's the best place."

President Eisenhower declined comment on the Senate's action at his news conference yesterday. He said it was a matter of the Senate determining what is required in preserving its dignity.

The resolution, as adopted by the Senate in its final form, condemned McCarthy's conduct on these two counts:

1. That he had obstructed "the constitutional processes of the Senate" by failing to cooperate with and by repeatedly abusing a Sen-

2-Year Highway Program Outlined

State Road Chiefs Plan Spending $230 Million For Improvements

COLUMBUS (AP)—The Ohio Highway Department yesterday unwrapped a unified two-year road-building program estimated to cost $230 million.

The plan included proposals for an additional $48½ million in planning and purchase of rights of way for future highway construction.

Funds for the giant project would come from federal aid, state funds, local government funds and issuance of state bonds.

Supplementing construction proposals, the department suggested $4 million be made available yearly for bridge replacements, repairs and emergency needs.

The complete program was submitted to the State Highway Construction Council for approval or rejection, in whole or in part.

The program was set up under interpretation by the department that present law requires a firm program set up in advance for each two-year period.

THE 1956-57 program is the first submitted since voters approved issuing bonds to speed up highway construction.

Listed by state highway department divisions here are some of the major projects proposed for construction during the two-year period which ends June 30, 1957:

Ohio Valley Hikes Sewage Treatment

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Ohio River Valley Water Sanitation Commission reported today that sewage disposal facilities now are in operation for more than four million people in the Ohio Valley.

The commission, making its sixth annual report, said 45 per cent of the population in a 155,000 square mile area of Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia now is served by sewage treatment. Plants are under construction for nine per cent of the population and plants have been approved for 26 per cent.

Bankruptcy Sought

CLEVELAND (AP)—A bankruptcy petition was filed in federal court yesterday against home builder David H. Bremson, charged last week with falsifying papers in getting Federal Housing Administration loan for his clients.

Knowland Silent Over Ike's Hope For Harmony On Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's stated hope that Republican congressional leaders will avoid differing greatly with him on basic administration policy was met with silence today by Senate Majority Leader Knowland.

"No comment," said the California senator with respect to the hope the President voiced at his news conference yesterday.

Eisenhower was replying to a question pinned specifically to Knowland's differences with the White House and State Department.

Knowland has been critical of the administration over how to deal with the Chinese Communists' imprisonment of 13 Americans as "spies." The senator wants the United States to blockade Red China in an effort to force release of the prisoners.

The President, at his session with newsmen, rejected that idea. He said a blockade would be "an act of war" and counseled against letting the Communists goad the U. S. into war.

Eisenhower also again turned thumbs down on proposals to sever diplomatic relations with Russia. Knowland has urged such action.

Democrat Chieftains Set To Select New Chairman

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Democratic National Committee members turned up in record numbers today for a free-for-all battle over the choice of a successor to Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell.

As party members huddled in caucuses reminiscent of a presidential nominating convention the unsettled question of how many votes are needed to elect a new chairman arose to plague them.

With 71 of the 105 committee members having indicated their intention to attend Mitchell said that Rep. Clarence Cannon of Missouri, parliamentarian, would be asked to rule on the issue of whether a majority vote, or only a plurality, is needed to elect.

The issue was somewhat similar to the old two-thirds rule which the Democrats abolished in 1936, whether a majority of those voting

Vatican Says Pope Doing Satisfactorily

VATICAN CITY (AP)—The Vatican called the pope's condition satisfactory today, but renewed anxiety for his life was emphasized in reports on the severity and range of his ailments.

Roman Catholics throughout the world were joined in prayers for recovery of Pope Pius XII. His closest associate, Msgr. Giovanni Battista Montini, went to his bedside in the Vatican palace.

The Vatican disclosed officially that the 78-year-old pontiff had received treatment for "peritoneal irritation accompanied by abdominal tension." This condition is an irritation of the lining to the abdominal cavity. It reflected the pope's long struggle against a gastric disorder accompanied by spells of hiccuping and nausea.

The bulletin of the pope's physician, Dr. Riccardo Aleazzi-Lissi, said X-ray and clinical examination made yesterday afternoon showed nothing alarming. Vatican sources said privately that an ulcer was a complicating factor.

There were conflicting reports about the condition of the pope's heart, but it was emphasized that he came through the night "relatively tranquilly."

Early last night, soon after the pope took a turn for the worse, a Vatican press spokesman said the pontiff had suffered a heart collapse. Later the Vatican omitted references to the heart. However, unconfirmed reports were heard that he had suffered a lighter, second heart attack during the night.

Trucker Burned To Death In Crash

LIMA (AP)—An unidentified truck driver was burned to death early today when his tractor-trailer crashed into the rear of another truck north of here at the junction of Ohio 115 and U. S. 3N.

The tractor-trailer was destroyed in the fire. Officials said it carried Indiana license issued to Miller Transportation Co., Kokomo.

3 Different Approaches Available To U.S. In Anti-China Maneuver

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States pressed today for U. N. action to free 11 American airmen jailed by Red China on spy charges. The move brought quick response from America's 15 Korean Allies.

U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., after a high-level meeting in Washington, called the Allies into emergency session last night to discuss the speediest course of action. He voiced confidence the U. N. would support any move the Americans might decide on.

President Eisenhower told newsmen in Washington yesterday he did not see "how the United Nations can possibly disabuse itself of a feeling of responsibility in this matter, and retain its self-respect." Similar views have been expressed by congressmen. The airmen flew under U. N. colors.

Informed sources said Eisenhower may underscore his interest in the case by sending secretary of State Dulles here to take a personal hand.

After meeting with the Allies, Lodge told newsmen:

"WE ARE GOING to act to do everything we can to keep faith with these men. They are U. N. men as well as U. S. men. This organization can't go on if it does not stand by people who go to bat for it when it gets into trouble."

U. N. circles said there were three main avenues of action:

1. Bring the matter before the Security Council where undoubtedly it would run into the Soviet veto.

2. Ask U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld to intercede personally with the Peiping government.

3. Seek a General Assembly (Continued on Page Two)

U.S. Employers Boosting Aid For Workers

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new Labor Department survey indicates the nation's employers are making a much bigger contribution to insurance protection for their workers.

The study disclosed that 95 per cent of the urban workers it surveyed in the country enjoy some kind of health, pension or other insurance paid for by their employers, either wholly or in part.

The department's Bureau of Labor Statistics, which made the survey, said it could make no precise comparisons with the scope of employer-financed insurance in earlier years, but that a considerable expansion in this field was obvious.

"It is evident," the bureau said, "that the past two years insurance and pension protection has been made available for the first time to substantial numbers of workers, while for many others the number of types of benefits available have been increased."

The survey dealt only with private insurance plans in which employers pay at least a portion of costs. It did not include private health, pension or other insurance coverage the workers might buy for themselves. Nor did it cover such government insurance programs as social security.

The study covered six million workers in offices and plants employing 50 or more persons. It was confined to the country's 17 largest urban areas and skipped the small plants and towns.

Massillon Hospital Getting New Chief

COLUMBUS (AP)—Dr. H. K. Moir, superintendent of Rollman Receiving Hospital, Cincinnati, today was appointed superintendent of Massillon State Hospital. He succeeds Dr. Arthur G. Hyde, who is retiring from state service Dec. 31.

Dr. Lowell O. Dillon, mental hygiene commissioner, announced the appointment, which he said would be effective Dec. 17. Dr. Moir will be succeeded by Dr. Conrad O. Ranger in the Cincinnati post. Dr. Moir is an assistant commissioner in the division of mental hygiene.

3-Pronged Bender-Burke Poll Contest Probe Hinted

COLUMBUS (AP)—A three-pronged probe into the recent Bender-Burke senatorial election loomed today as more charges of vote count irregularities piled up.

Meanwhile, Sen. Thomas A. Burke's recount margin continued to expand. It showed a net gain of 2,738 votes today.

The recount includes 6,840 precincts, with 922 still left to tally. Burke, a Democrat, was defeated Nov. 2 for the U. S. Senate by Republican George H. Bender, by 3,041 votes in the official canvass.

Reports from Cincinnati said Burke forces planned to appeal to the Senate Elections Committee for a federal investigation and recount of the Burke-Bender race in Hamilton County, so far the No. 1 recount hot spot.

And Secretary of State Ted W. Brown said he will open an investigation Monday in Cleveland.

HE SAID VARIANCES of more than 50 votes between recount and official totals "must be explained in several ways."

Earlier, the prosecuting attorney of Hamilton County said he

DuPont Suit Dismissed By Federal Judge

CHICAGO (AP)—U. S. District Judge Walter J. Labuy today dismissed the government's civil anti-trust suit against the DuPont interests, General Motors Corp. and the United States Rubber Co.

Judge Labuy held that the government had "failed to prove conspiracy, monopolization, a restraint of trade, or any reasonable probability of a restraint."

The government's civil suit was against E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Co., the General Motors Corp., and U. S. Rubber Co., three Du Pont holding companies and 33 members of the Du Pont family.

The government asked the judge, who heard the long trial without a jury, to force the Du Ponts to dispose of their stock interest in General Motors and U. S. Rubber.

Government attorneys claimed the Du Ponts bought General Motors and U. S. Rubber stock so Du Pont products could be sold to those huge firms with little competition from makers of similar products.

The Du Ponts contended they bought the stock in the two companies because the purchases were good investments, and asserted Du Pont salesmen had to hustle for whatever business they got from General Motors and U. S. Rubber.

During the trial the defense said the Du Pont company owns 23 per cent of General Motors stock and the Du Pont family owns 17 per cent of the U. S. Rubber stock.

The government alleged the companies violated the Sherman Act by restraining trade through secret rebates and by dividing several fields of manufacturing among themselves to stifle competition.

The defense denied all charges.

Corps Collects A Ton Of Toys Plus $101 Cash

Thursday night's Toy Tour netted slightly more than a ton, collected in Circleville.

James P. Shea, publicity director of the Circleville American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps which sponsored the event, added that $101 was also received in cash donations.

These totals compare with more than two tons of toys collected in 1953. Also, donations last year added up to $150.

The city was divided into three sections. A portion of the corps was assigned to each sector.

Shea pointed out that it was physically impossible for the corps members to call at each and every house. As a matter of fact, he said that he had received calls Friday morning from people who had donations to make.

"If we missed anyone," he said, "and they have toys or money for the cause, then please call me at 351. We will arrange to have someone stop by."

He added that the porch light idea helped out. However, he noted that many people who went out for the evening also left their porch lights on, adding to some confusion.

Shea said he hoped additional donations could help the corps reach the 1953 figure.

Man's Taunt Starts Hunt For Escapee

NEWARK (AP)—A man's taunt here yesterday startled law officers into searching the area for Pat McDermott, 56-year-old murderer who escaped Sunday from Ohio Penitentiary. He was serving a life sentence.

Police said a man in a parked car called Stanley Shaw over to the vehicle, apparently to ask information. When Shaw crossed to the car, he said a second man blurted:

"You guys think you're going to catch McDermott?" Then, Shaw said, the driver sped off.

Shaw, who is Newark fire chief but was in plain clothes, notified police, and an alert went out to surrounding counties while a dozen patrol cars formed a net around the city.

The two were finally picked up in downtown Newark. Police said the pair had no knowledge of McDermott, although they were uncertain about the motive for the hoax. One of the two was jailed for intoxication. He was identified as William John Kelly, 48, of Somerset.

McDermott walked out of an honor dormitory at the penitentiary. He was sent there for the 1926 murder of Don R. Mellett, crusading publisher of the old Canton Daily News.

State officials said there was no progress and no new leads in their search.

Ohio Flier Lost

QUONSET POINT, R. I. (AP)—A Navy C-47 jet fighter plane missed a landing wire on the deck of the carrier TARAWA Wednesday and skidded into the ocean. Ens. Thomas J. McDowell of North Canton, Ohio, piloting the jet, was lost.

The plane was on a training mission and was carrying a full load of fuel. It was flying at an altitude of about 10,000 feet when it missed the landing wire.

The plane was seen to skid off the deck and into the water. The pilot was seen to bail out and was rescued by a helicopter.

ate elections subcommittee and its members in their investigation of his financial affairs in 1951-52.

2. That he "acted contrary to senatorial ethics and tended to bring the Senate into dishonor and disrepute" by his attacks on the special committee that recommended his censure and by calling the Senate's special session, among other things, "a lynch party."

The second count, offered by Bennett, was adopted in place of a count recommended by the special committee to condemn McCarthy for "intemperate abuse" of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwickler.

The count based on McCarthy's treatment of Zwickler at a closed-door hearing in New York City last Feb. 18 was never brought to a vote after strong opposition to it became evident in the debate. Bennett's count was substituted instead by a 64-23 vote, and then approved 64-24.

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.), author of the original censure resolution against McCarthy, said after the final roll call that "this has been a long and sad, but very necessary experience." He said he believes that from now on "it will be possible to have a more constructive approach to fighting communism."

Sen. Watkins, chairman of the special committee, said "the Senate has just finished a very unpleasant task."

Relief Officials Offer To Steer Yule Gifts To Neediest Cases

Two Pickaway County officials who are in the best position to do so have offered to serve as clearing house for Christmas charity gifts to the needy.

The offer, long recognized as an important need in the district, comes from Miss Pauline Reese, head of the county's general relief and related agencies, and Mrs. Dorothy Downs, in charge of Aid for Dependent Children. Both emphasized how such a plan would minimize the risk of duplicating gifts—a duplication which could give several gifts to one family while a neighboring family goes without any.

In past years a considerable amount of duplication in the respect has handicapped the giving of Christmas food baskets and individual donations of various kinds to the needy. Community groups, clubs and other organizations have frequently made special efforts to help a needy family, unaware that

An Indiana truck driver, secretly indicted by the test session of the Pickaway County Grand Jury in connection with the traffic death of a Columbus man, has agreed to be extradited.

Ray A. McKean, 28, of Decatur, Ind., was accused of manslaughter in the second degree. He has already paid a $25 fine and costs for failure to keep his truck as assured clear distance.

McKean is accused of running his truck into another which was parked while repairs were being made on it. Charles Ellis, 55, the other driver, died a week after the accident.

The crash occurred on Route 23, 1.5 miles south of the Pickaway-Franklin County line at 4:30 a. m. McKean claims he did not see in time the smudge pots which Ellis had put on the highway to warn approaching vehicles.

WHILE ELLIS was making repairs on the truck, McKean's truck reportedly struck the left rear of the parked vehicle. The struck jack-knifed and sent Ellis sprawling into a field a short distance away.

Sheriff's deputies obtained a statement from a passing motorist who said he saw the smudge pots. McKean previously had fought being returned to Pickaway County.

Segregation Laws Work In Reverse

PETERSBURG, Va. — For many years Negroes have been making news by applying for admission to colleges in states where segregation laws barred them.

The news was reversed when more than a dozen white applicants were denied admission to Virginia State College, a school for Negroes. The college turned them down after being advised by the State Board of Education that they could not be admitted under Virginia law.

President Robert P. Danile of the college said the white applicants were from the area near the college and were mostly interested in part-time courses as day students.

Breakins Reported By Snack Shack

two or more of them are directing their assistance to one family and ignoring others equally needy.

It was pointed out that such duplications, leading to confusion, misunderstandings and bad feelings, also occur from time to time during the year. Only reason for the clearing house proposal at this time is because such charity is always increased during the year-end holidays.

MISS ROESE and Mrs. Downs explained they would maintain an up-to-date master list of all the district's needy families and individuals.

"Then, when an organization, for example, calls us up and says five Christmas baskets are available, we can check our list and give them the names of five families," Mrs. Downs explained.

The telephone number for Miss Reese's office is 85. For Mrs. Downs' office, the number is 332.

Last year at Christmas, due to a lack of organization of the type offered, several local families received two or three baskets of food while other needy families were left without any due to a lack of donors.

Miss Reese and Mrs. Downs said their list of the needy in this district is compiled according to the degree of need. That is, the cases in most urgent need are at the top of the list. And the remainder accordingly to their circumstances.

Dowler Represents Exchange Program

David Dowler of Ashville has been selected to represent the International Farm Youth Exchange at the conference of North American Youth Activities in Asia, Africa and the Middle East.

The conference, sponsored by the Experiment in International Living, is now under way at Putney, Vt. The session will continue until next Tuesday.

Putney and Paris, France, are headquarters for the Experiment in International Living.

Dowler was an IFE delegate to India last year. Sixty representatives from 30 organizations which have youth programs directed in their areas, will attend the Vermont conference. They will discuss the general question of how the youth of North America can best work to establish friendly relations with boys and girls of other lands.

Looking back to the anniversary of the atomic bomb's first hush development, Thursday's meeting of the Circleville Rotary Club has its program based on the tremendous discovery that opened a new historical era.

Main speaker for the luncheon gathering was Robert Rose, assistant to the manager of community affairs at the Atomic Energy Commission's project in Pike County.

In the course of his talk it was recalled that on Dec. 2, 1942, a group of scientists secretly met in a small room at Chicago to see the final laboratory success of the A-bomb process. It was at this meeting that they learned, for the first time, that the reaction was self-sustaining—opening the door to the whole atomic field.

Rose reminded the Rotarians that the progress, development and great prospects of the atomic energy program reflect lasting credit on the few men who steered the first experiments. For the average individual, he added, the magnitude and complexity of the atomic program is beyond comprehension.

The AEC official pointed beyond the well-known destructive power of nuclear fission and stressed its peacetime potential. As examples of the vast field open to atomic energy, he described the atomic powered submarine, Nautilus, and a nuclear fuel power plant being built in Pennsylvania.

DR. STEVE SAID the specialist also found an absence of reflexes in the left arm and abdomen. A spinal puncture was made, Dr. Steve said, and the specialist's report for that day carries the notation:

"Indication of a cervical spinal cord contusion."

Last Monday, Dr. E. Richard Hexter, a physician testifying for the state, said he found no serious injury to the defendant, but admitted he never before had made a spinal examination. The prosecution has suggested Dr. Sam's injuries were faded.

DR. STEPHEN, the first defense witness, started his testimony yesterday by saying his brother broke into tears when a detective first accused him of the murder. He quoted Dr. Sam as saying incredulously, "those policemen think I killed Marilyn."

That statement, the witness said, came after the first time detectives interviewed Dr. Sam. The brother went on to relate that his brother "was crying. He was extremely agitated and upset. The change in him was tremendous."

City Firemen Make Rural Blaze Run

A rural fire run was made by the Circleville Fire Department Thursday night.

At 7:49 p. m., the firefighters were called to the Crites farm, north of here, on Route 23. The alarm was caused by a roof fire which was already under control when the city firemen arrived.

The farm is located in Circleville Township, which has a fire protection contract with the city of Circleville.

Cancer Research Fund Is Granted

PITTSBURGH — Dr. Peter A. Lindstrom, ex-husband of screen actress Ingrid Bergman, has received a $4,980 grant from the American Cancer Society for research work.

Dr. Lindstrom has helped develop pain controlling brain operations by use of high frequency sound waves instead of surgery. A neurologist, he is a research associate of the Addison H. Gibson laboratory at the University of Pittsburgh. He also is a member of the staff at the Aspiwall Veterans Administration Hospital.

Brother Tells Sam's Condition

Deterioration Caused By Injuries, Claim

CLEVELAND — Dr. Samuel Sheppard's physical condition deteriorated for several days after he was taken to the hospital, his brother testified here today.

"He was worse on Monday," Dr. Stephen Sheppard told the jury.

The defense is building its contention that the handsome osteopath was injured seriously in the fight he claims he had with a mysterious attacker who killed his wife, Marilyn. She was slain in the early hours of July 4.

"Dr. Steve" said that a day after "Dr. Sam" was admitted to the hospital, the swelling on his face had increased, and that he lost control of his natural functions.

"What did this loss of control of the natural processes indicate to you?" Chief Defense Counsel William J. Corrigan asked.

"It indicated an injury to the spinal cord," the witness replied.

He said his suspicion of a spinal injury was shared by a brain specialist, whom he had called July 4 when Dr. Sam was first admitted to the hospital.

DR. STEVE SAID the specialist also found an absence of reflexes in the left arm and abdomen. A spinal puncture was made, Dr. Steve said, and the specialist's report for that day carries the notation:

"Indication of a cervical spinal cord contusion."

resolution charging violation of the Korean armistice and demanding the fliers' release on grounds they were illegally imprisoned.

If the third course is adopted, the Russians are expected to echo Peiping's claim that the men are not war prisoners but were shot down over the China mainland.

The United States apparently aimed at forestalling such a move in confining its appeal to the 11 airmen. Two civilian employees of the U. S. Army were sentenced along with the fliers but Lodge said they were not in the U. N. forces. All had been captured when their planes were downed during the Korean War.

DENOUNCING their jailing on what he called "trumped-up charges" U. S. Delegate James J. Wadsworth said conditions were hardly favorable for new Korean negotiations, sought by Russia, "at this time when Communist China has just furnished fresh evidence of its brutal and illegal treatment of captured personnel of the U. N. command in violation of the armistice agreement."

Russia's Jacob Malik indicated the Soviet attitude when he said the case of the fliers had nothing to do with the Korean problem. He charged the issue was "concocted artificially because the United States was short of any serious argument."

Allied with the United States in Korea were Britain, France, Canada, Australia, Belgium, Colombia, Ethiopia, Greece, Luxembourg, the Netherlands, New Zealand, the Philippines, Thailand, South Africa and Turkey.

British Pound Value Showing New Decline

Experts Seek Reason For Dip; Talk Of Aid For Sterling Dropped

NEW YORK (AP) — The British pound sterling is at its lowest level in relation to the American dollar in two years — a more than seasonal weakness that has the experts scurrying around for explanations.

And the talk about making the pound freely exchangeable with the dollar is being shunted aside once more.

The British claim they have liberalized trade and currency exchange progressively this year so that soon it will look a little like convertibility.

American bankers point out that what Britain seems to be aiming at for the moment is a hard-top convertible — to use an automobile industry term. It may look like a convertible. But just try to roll the top back.

Convertibility is that state of comparative international financial innocence that prevailed way back when. . . in those pre-World War I days you could take some dollars and buy some British pounds, or French francs or Argentine pesos without hindrance, if you liked the rate the seller offered.

For the American businessman that meant if he sold $100 worth of his goods abroad he could bring 100 dollars back to this country if he liked. It meant that the American farmer could do the same, if he sold grain or cotton abroad.

Now the farmer often must accept the money of the country in which he sells — and if he has no use for the foreign money, chances are he can't make the sale, and the grain or cotton goes into a U.S. government price support warehouse.

Americans go on selling abroad when they can, or bartering when they can't get dollars, or playing three-way bookkeeping deals with other countries. Some big corporations have set up special departments to handle the new look in world trade.

Government agencies try three-way barter deals, also. The Foreign Operations Administration is working out a deal with Denmark whereby we send her four million dollars worth of our surplus farm commodities. She in turn is to send an equal amount of her products to one or more nations to whom we already have promised foreign aid.

The whole thing will be done without the exchange of dollars in a world where exchange of currencies is now so difficult. If you count out the American taxpayers, that is. They put up the four million dollars in the first place to acquire the surplus farm products.

But progress is being made toward freeing trade and currencies. For example, France has just moved to lift import quotas on a long list of items January 1. France's healthier finances helped speed the day.

West Germany is raring to go on all-out convertibility and so are Belgium and The Netherlands. The Economist, British weekly, notes that these three countries have "continually urged Britain to take the final and dramatic plunge into convertibility."

Most Americans, however, see little chance that England will do so until after the general elections next year. The laborites are against it and the conservatives fear to risk it in an election year.

Current weakness in the British pound isn't helping any. But most observers think that seasonal factors may be largely to blame for that.

Other things enter in, however. London's dock strike held up exports so that Britain didn't get the dollars she might have. She is making larger than usual purchases of tobacco and coal from us just now. Britain is paying in dollars for a large quantity of

Hal Boyle Says:

Doorbell Ringing Is An Art

NEW YORK (AP)—Many of today's famous men got their start by pushing doorbells.

Bruce Barton sold cooking utensils from door to door to help pay his college tuition. Billy Graham toted around a well-known line of household brushes. Eric Johnston once sold vacuum cleaners.

Arthur Godfrey, who later learned he could get into more living rooms via television than by knocking on front doors, in his youth sold cemetery lots for a time by house-to-house plugging.

They are just a few of the honored graduates of a form of direct selling, symbolized by the roving Yankee peddler, which began in this country almost as soon as the Pilgrims landed. Approximately a million Americans today devote all or part of their time to this kind of salesmanship. This huge army of doorbell ringers now sell items as small as a nail file, as large as an oak tree. Fortunately, they don't have to carry sample oak trees in their daily rounds. Pictures will do.

Business is good right now with the doorbell pushers.

"Direct selling seems to rise and fall with the tempo of retailing generally," said George Graves, president of the National Assn. of Direct Selling Companies.

"There is no available census of the industry, but we estimate its volume at between two and four billion dollars a year. And this doesn't include the door-to-door business done by insurance agents, milkmen or auto salesmen. There are quite a few auto salesmen now out looking for sales by pushing doorbells."

His organization has quietly set about trying to stamp out unsavory practices in the industry. Member firms must subscribe and live up to a code of ethics. Crews of high pressure salesmen who move from town to town are frowned upon. So is the brassy, fast-talking fellow who wedges his foot in the housewife's door while he pours out a quick glib spiel about the wonders of a new can opener guaranteed to lighten her chores, improve her intellect and make her irresistible to her husband.

"The backbone of our industry is the sales representative who is known and respected in his own community," Graves said.

This kind of agent relies less and less on pushing a cold doorbell. He likes to arrange house parties at which he can demonstrate his wares to groups of club women and neighboring housewives.

Who is engaged in this type of work and what are its rewards? A tree nursery firm specializing in direct selling found its agents ranged from 24 to 55 years of age, earned between $6,000 and $8,000 a year, and formerly had been employed as shipping clerks, garage attendants and truck drivers.

The field is divided equally between men and women. While it still draws college boys, it also attracts many retired businessmen.

Graves, who heads one of the world's largest cosmetics firms, has 60,000 sales agents, mostly women, from girls of 18 to one woman who, now 85, is still a top seller.

"They come from all walks of life," he said. "Many are former schoolteachers or widows. Many, minister's wives take up this work and three of our representatives are the wives of small town bankers."

"And one of our best agents is a southern minister. He does a tremendous business."

The great problem in the industry is the turnover in sales agents, which averages more than 50 per cent a year. They are recruited largely by other agents or through classified newspaper ads.

"The reason for the turnover is the fact that many people take up direct selling for a single purpose," explained Graves. "They

By Mac Noggle

What do you think could be called the oldest product which is still being shipped in quantity from Pickaway County? Our guess—the gravel and sand from the Sturn and Dillard plant on the Island Road. We are going to do our best to prove the point.

Notice that we did not say it was a product "of" Pickaway County. We doubt if any part of it is native—but how it got here in such great quantities is a fascinating story. Within a comparatively short time—geologically speaking—say 125 thousand years—this material was brought into our country by the last continental ice sheet which affected this region and is known as the Wisconsin glaciation.

We read today about the stupendous earth-moving jobs done with modern machinery—but any of these would be but the work of toys compared to what this glacier did. There are several misconceptions concerning the character of this great moving sheet of ice which we would like to try and correct before going into the story of what happened northwest of Circleville.

The most common misbelief is that it was like the great white wall of ice which is seen in the Arctic regions. The ice which covered Ohio was much different. It was not clean and white.

WHERE it was born and lived for thousands of years before it started to go visiting, it probably was and it may have been as much as two or three miles thick, but as it slowly pushed to the south and into a region which was much warmer, it began to melt—gathering more and more rock and earth, until at the point farthest away from its starting place, there was a greater per cent of debris than there was ice.

So it is probable, had there been such a thing as a man at that time, he could have walked from the ground onto the thin ledge of ice without knowing it. Another idea which should be discarded is that this wall of ice slipped down and across central and southern Ohio in a straight line.

No—it acted like any free-moving object and followed the path of the least resistance—coming down the valleys, but stopping at or moving around higher ground. The pattern it formed was like the fingers of the hand. Its complete disappearance from Ohio has been fixed by the scientists at from 40 to 25 thousand years ago.

It is said that there was much ice in the northern part of Ohio thousands of years after Pickaway County was free of it. Now let's see what went on here during this ice age. We wish that we could persuade you to drive up the Island Road and really look over this region to get the real significance of it all.

Just east of the great ridge of gravel, between the N and W right of way and the Island Road is the black soil region—some of it even a peat bog. Here there probably was a shallow lake for thousands of years, in which the vegetation decomposed and formed the organic material found there today.

Then if you will look to the west, across the river, you will see the out-wash plains from the face of the ice and spreading the earth material out on a level-as flat as a floor.

FARTHER WEST of this plain, near Fox, was a mild "boulder-belt". Many can remember how the fields in the Darby Creek bottoms were strewn with great boulders—many weighing tons and also countless smaller ones—most of which were granite, a rock is certainly not native to Pickaway County.

These had been picked up far north of here by the relentless push of the slowly moving ice and were dropped on the land in streaks as the ice melted.

But how was the great ridge of gravel and sand—seemingly bottomless—formed along the east side of the Scioto River in Circleville Township? So that you are not confused—you must remember there was no such thing as the Scioto River then.

This region was in the valley of the great Newark River, which entered our county in western Madison Township and flowed directly south. Circleville is situated entirely on the filled-in Newark River. There were possibly three things which happened at this point.

Many of you can remember the old "kettle-hole" along the road and not far from the river bridge. This formation was of great interest to the geologist and the batanist. In it were many specimens which were entirely foreign to our region. We have often wondered, too, if the bog in the center of this had been properly explored by our scientists before it was destroyed, they would have found the remains of some of the great pre-historic mammals, which roamed our country in the very early days.

They came to such places to drink and quite often to die. The "kettle-hole" was formed by a great chunk of the retreating ice, breaking loose and remaining, while sand and gravel piled around it. When the ice was entirely melted, a large round hole was left.

BUCKEYE AND Indian lakes are glacial kettle lakes. Those, who remember the Wayne Lindsey land before it was sold to Sturn and Dillard, recall the two or three hummocks of gravel on top of the ridge along the river bank. They looked like Indian mounds and have been mistaken as the work of the mound-building Indians. But they, too, were formed by the glacier.

Georgia Teen-Ager Given Reprieve To Allow Sanity Check

ATLANTA (AP)—Gov. Herman Tamm has ordered a stay of execution for James Willie Morgan, 18, who was scheduled to die in the electric chair today.

Responding to a last-minute appeal by the youth's attorney Archie Gleason, the governor last night agreed to a 15-day delay to permit a sanity hearing and examination by psychiatrists.

Morgan was sentenced to death for fatally shooting Eugene Tammage Bryant, young Augusta taxi driver, during a robbery. He would have been the seventh teen-ager executed in Georgia this year.

Before the governor acted, the youth's mother, Mrs. Ruby P. Anderson, issued a desperate plea for his life from a cell in the same prison. She is serving two to four years for slipping a gun to her son after he was jailed.

Hizzoner Assists Burglar In Denver

DENVER, (AP)—William Hubert Riley, 35, told Dist. Judge Edward C. Day he'd like a little jail sentence to "straighten himself out," and the court accommodated him. Judge Day sentenced Riley to a 15-month to 10-year prison term for burglary.

Water collecting on the top of the ice sometimes found a hole and, filtering through, gradually formed a large funnel-like opening to the bottom. The sand and gravel, which the running water was carrying, was deposited at the bottom of this hole, where it remained after all the ice had disappeared. Such mounds are known as kames. But the kettle and the kames only accounts for very little of the gravel at this point.

The great ridge, or esker, running for quite a distance along the east side of the Scioto River, is almost entirely made up of gravel and sand. And if you will go out and look at the excavation at Sturn and Dillard's, you will see how deep this material is—remembering the lake is more than 60 feet deep.

The Circleville Esker was formed by a swiftly moving river at the bottom or underneath the ice, thus creating a great tunnel and depositing gravel, sand and clay in ridges and bars along its course.

When the ice retreated by melting, all of this material remained, marking where this great cavernous river once flowed. See what we mean when we say that Sturn and Dillard's merchandise is a bit old-fashioned—having been in stock quite some time?

A Cry Out of the Depths

MAN PLEADS WITH GOD THAT HIS PRAYERS MAY BE HEARD, CONFIDENT OF FORGIVENESS

Scripture—Psalms 86; 130.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

"OUT of the depths have I cried unto Thee, O Lord. Lord, hear my voice; let Thine ears be attentive to the voice of my supplications."

How many in deep trouble have so cried to the Lord for aid all down the centuries since these words were first written! Men and women who never attend church, never pray, turn to their Maker when deep trouble or tragedy strikes, and ask His help.

The saying coined during wartime, that "there are no atheists in foxholes," is just as true of everyone in trouble.

The lesson is rather a difficult one for small children. They might be asked how many of them say their prayers when they go to bed; how many talk to Jesus in the morning when they wake to a new day.

The evening prayer might well begin by asking their Father in heaven to forgive them their wrong doings during the day, and to help them to be better. In the morning they might thank Jesus for a new day, the comforts they enjoy and the love of parents, relatives and friends.

Also they could thank the Maker for the beauty of the world in which they live, and, if the comforts mentioned are not theirs, for His help in bearing their trials and in so living that their lives may be acceptable in

was not a military watchman, but to the "custom of the Levites who kept the night watch in the temple appointed to watch for the moment of dawn, when the daily sacrifice was to be offered." The dawn brought them not only release from work, but the blessing of the renewal of God's mercy.

"Let Israel hope in the Lord; for with the Lord there is mercy, and with Him is plenteous redemption. And He shall redeem Israel from all his iniquities."

Psalms 86 is "A prayer of David," and you remember David's sin in coveting another man's wife, commanding that the husband be sent to the front of battle that he might be killed so David could marry the wife.

David was punished for his evil and forgiven, but in this prayer he cries to the Lord to be merciful, "For Thou art good, and ready to forgive; and plenteous in mercy unto all them that call upon Thee."

"Among the gods there is none like unto Thee, O Lord; neither are there any works like unto Thy works. All nations shall come and worship before Thee and glorify Thy name."

"All nations whom Thou hast made shall come and worship before Thee, O Lord; and shall glorify Thy name. For Thou art great, and doest wondrous things; Thou art God alone."

A prayer for us all to remember and repeat continually is David's plea:

His sight.

"If Thou, Lord, shouldst mark iniquities, O Lord, who shall stand? But there is forgiveness with Thee."

May I quote from Shakespeare's Merchant of Venice? It seems pertinent to our text:

Though justice be thy plea, consider this,
That in the course of justice none of us
Should see salvation; we do pray for mercy;
And that same prayer doth teach us all to render
The deeds of mercy.

Isn't it odd that we pray for forgiveness for our sins, and expect our heavenly Father to forgive us, but we are often so slow to show mercy to others?

"I wait for the Lord, my soul doth wait, and in His word do I hope."

"My soul waiteth for the Lord more than they that watch for the morning."

Christmas Gifts Returned To Girls

MEMPHIS — Sandra, 8, and Barbara, 7, had their Christmas gifts back today.

A department store had police repossess the $78.16 worth of presents Wednesday when it learned the girls' father Lee Carpenter had paid for the gifts with a forged check.

Store Manager Henry Kaplan returned the gifts Wednesday night. "I talked it over with the store owners," he said, "and we all agreed the little girls should have their Christmas gifts back."

"We don't want to be the folks to destroy any child's faith in Santa Claus."

Carpenter, 27-year-old plumber, has been held to the state on three counts of forgery.

ANSWERS NEEDED

DO MOTORISTS cheat when they approach a stop sign? Results of a survey conducted by a social psychology class in a small Midwest college show that the majority of them do. On the basis of 1,675 observed instances, the students report that 48 per cent of the motorists obeyed the letter of the law, 36 per cent slowed down considerably and looked in both directions, but failed to come to a complete stop, and 13 per cent merely looked. The remaining four per cent ran past the stop sign without giving any indication it was there.

The survey points up one important phase of motoring that is implicated in greater or lesser degree in nearly every vehicular accident—the driver's sense of responsibility. Whether the laws of safe usage of streets are observed is rooted in this all-vital attitude of the individual.

Either he or she is conditioned to observe the law without further incentive—such as fear of apprehension or the spur of praise—or is possessed of an irresponsible sense that can only be chastened by an accident.

Driving, fundamentally, is one of the most advanced challenges of good citizenship. Yet people who wouldn't think of breaking the law often do so without a twinge of conscience when they get behind the wheel of an automobile.

CUSTOMER PORTIONS

IT IS ANNOUNCED in New York, which vies with Hollywood in the origination of American customs, that restaurants and hotels which serve food are buying in units of individual customer portions instead of by the pound.

Restaurateurs call this "portion control" and claim it saves them money. It aids them in pricing meals accurately because there is no variation in the amounts served.

This will not be resisted too strenuously by the customers if portions bear some relation to reality—that is, if enough green beans are served with the steak to fill up around the corners. Or if the shrimp isn't doled out more and more grudgingly and the ice cream dippers do not become progressively smaller as avidity for profits wins over normal customer appetites.

If this customer portion idea is carried to the usual ultimate conclusion, many restaurant patrons may feel like the hungry Indian who went to a food counter for a ham sandwich. The girl slapped the meat between two hunks of bread and served what the customer hoped would be a tempting viand.

Looking between the bread slices and dolefully appraising the thinness of the sliver of ham, he exclaimed: "Huh, she darn near missed um."

Government at all levels cost U. S. taxpayers $111,000,000,000 in 1953. Taxation with representation can come high, too.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

While some Americans continue to believe that Red China will separate from Soviet Russia, Mao Tze-tung and his associates have answered the question by proclaiming a new Constitution that follows the Marxist line in every detail. That this should be so is historically inevitable as the Chinese Communist Party has continuously taken an orthodox Marxist position since 1921. The first paragraph of the Preamble clearly states the position:

"The Chinese people, after more than a century of heroic struggle, finally achieved in 1949, under the leadership of the Communist Party of China, their great victory in the people's revolution against imperialism, feudalism and bureaucratic capitalism, thereby ending the long history of oppression and enslavement and setting up the People's Republic of China, a people's democratic dictatorship. The system of people's democracy—new democracy—of the People's Republic of China ensures that China can in a peaceful way eliminate exploitation and poverty and build a prosperous and happy socialist society."

The last paragraph of the Preamble to the Constitution deals with the relations of Red China to Soviet Russia. It is not a matter left to individual judgment; friendship for Russia is the organic law of the land:

"China has already built up an indestructible friendship with the great Union of Soviet Socialist Republics and the People's Democracies; the friendship between our people and peace-loving people throughout the world is growing day by day."

The form of government adopted is described as "democratic centralism," the current Soviet substitute for the "dictatorship of the proletariat." "Democratic centralism" means that while the officialdom is chosen at a so-called democratic election, the control is from the top down, requiring a blind and abject obedience to the dictates of those in control of government.

Article 4 of Chapter I specifically says: "... through socialist industrialization and socialist reconstruction, (the state) ensures the gradual abolition of the exploiting system and the building of a socialist society."

Article 10 explains the method for the abolition of capitalism.

Recognizing temporarily private ownership, Article 6 states:

"... The state ensures priority of development for the state sector of the economy. All mineral resources and waters, as well as forests, undeveloped land and other resources which the state owns by law, are the property of the whole people."

Article 8 has this to say of landlords: "The policy of the state towards kulak enterprise is one of restriction and gradual elimination."

As to the rights of landlords and capitalists as individuals, Article 19 states:

"The state deprives feudal landlords and bureaucratic capitalists of political rights for a specified period, in accordance with the law, at the same time providing them with opportunities to earn a livelihood, so that they may reform themselves by work and become citizens living by their own labour."

In a word, landlords and bureaucratic capitalists become in Red China, as they were in the early days of Soviet Russia, secondary citizens with limited civil rights. The term, "bureaucratic capitalists," as used in this Constitution is puzzling. By it they mean large companies, corporations, mostly foreign-owned.

SYNOPSIS

If the three heirs to old Josh Trevett's sizable estate New York farm remain on it for at least three months after his death, each will inherit one-third of the land. Those leaving sooner must relinquish their share or shares to those remaining, final resident to be awarded the entire farm. So when old Josh died, his kin were notified and copies of his will mailed them. In the late spring, we find Jennie Todd, an inheritor, a spinster, at the Trevett place, making ready her quarters in the rambling old farmhouse, and being assisted by Wick Middleton, executor of the Trevett estate.

CHAPTER EIGHT

IT WAS after 4, so Wick did not stop at his office but drove on to his home. Though he had lived in it his 41 years, there was always a pleasant satisfying feeling in turning into its driveway under the big maple trees, knowing the comfort that awaited him in the big, homely old house. His cousin Nettie was cooking supper.

Nettie had said, when she came after his mother had died 15 years ago: "I'll stay until you find yourself a wife, Wick." But he had not found anyone he wanted to marry. The town said it was because Nettie took too good care of him. His friends teased him about it. "Look at you! Ten pounds overweight!"

Nettie had friends in the town—sometimes he had heard it suggested that Jim Meese might be more than a friend but had laughed at it, for Jim was as set a bachelor as he.

He always went into the house through the kitchen door. Nettie was in the kitchen. "You're home early, Wick."

"Yes. I drove up to the Trevett farm. One of the nieces has come—drove in, while I was there, in Ed's car. Jennie Todd—the unmarried one."

"What'll that mean, Wick?"

"All it means is that she is in her wing of the house," he added. "Ahead of her right to be there."

The legality of it did not bother Nettie. "It's nice one of them came, the way Josh wanted them to!" Then she exclaimed: "My goodness, Wick! I forgot—there's a telegram come for you. Pete Morey brought it here when he couldn't find you at the office. I put it on your table in the sitting-room."

Wick read it. "My word! Another one's coming..."

"Another what?"

"Another of Josh's heirs. The other niece."

He read the telegram aloud: "Arriving by motor with daughter late Thursday afternoon. Please reserve rooms with bath for us at best hotel, for such length of time as it will take to put my part of the Trevett homestead in liveable order. Please engage reliable woman to clean place and housekeeper for the summer. Hester Wilmer."

"Sounds like she may be a little uppity," commented Nettie.

Wick began to laugh. "Our best hotel! Wait 'till she sees the Buck House here."

Nettie said: "Wick, they can't go there! It isn't even clean! They'll have to come here."

"Here!" He looked at her in horror. "Are you crazy, Net? I've an idea this Hester Wilmer is a tough one to take."

Nettie shook her reproving finger at him. "Now don't go jumping to conclusions about someone you've not laid an eye on! They can have the two front rooms. I won't mind a bit giving them meals. And I'll speak to Mrs. Dean tomorrow about the cleaning up there. She needs work."

Near noon the next day a thick-set, sandy-haired man opened Wick's office door, came hesitatingly into the room and asked: "You're the lawyer Middleton?" Wick said: "Yes. And you are—Thomas Todd?" He barely made it a question, so certain was he that the third heir would appear.

"No. I'm Dan Dooley, friend of Tommy's. A good friend. Tommy couldn't come, so I come and brought Tommy's girl. She's down in my truck, waiting. Thought I ought to speak to you before I drive her up to that place."

"Sit down, Mr. Dooley. The will hasn't been probated. I sent a waiver to Thomas Todd to sign. I haven't had it returned to me. This girl cannot occupy those quarters up there until these technicalities are covered, the estate proportioned out. Then only if her father chooses to meet the provisions of Jehosphat Trevett's will. She, herself, has no claim on it."

Dan Dooley sat down on the edge of a chair, a puzzled concern on his face. "I don't know nothing about law but I thought what was Tommy's was Cindy's."

Wick was thinking he never had seen more honest eyes than this man's, fixed on him, asking something, asking it in desperation. He said: "Is there any reason why it was imperative that you bring the girl now?"

Dooley said: "The girl had to go somewhere—there was only this place to come to. Heard of it in the nick of time, it seemed. Or so Bright said. We're Cindy's guardians, sort of, Bright and me. Tommy brought her to us when she wasn't much more than a baby and we've reared her. She's a good girl, 19 now. Through school and graduated head of her class..."

He saw Dan swallow as if it were hard to say what he had to say. "Tommy's in trouble just now. It looks bad—this time."

"Under arrest?"

"Heid, they call it. And the girl doesn't know. She would if she stayed with us there in Covington. The paper'd be full of it, for Covington was well, you could say Tommy's head office. We've kept her from knowing all along what Tommy's business was."

"Gambling?" asked Wick.

Dan nodded. "Some. Horse racing. Numbers. But it's these here pin-ball machines now. They got up a syndicate—covers as far as the west coast. They got them, though, in St. Louis. Someone started a big nullabaloo there. You see Tommy works under another name—Richard Cornelius. But it'll come out who he is and Cindy'll know."

Wick said: "Has she any funds, Dooley? She can get nothing from the estate as things are just now."

"I've brought the money she's been earning. I'll leave it with her. I'll keep her for some weeks. She's good at cooking."

Spanking's No Solution

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

ALMOST every child must be punished at one time or another. Yours probably needs it occasionally, too. I know mine did.

There are, of course, right ways and wrong ways of dealing out punishment. For punishment can not only teach a child to be good; it can also teach him to be bad. It depends on how you do it.

Spanking No Cure-All

If you give your youngster frequent and severe spankings, you'll teach him just one thing: don't get caught the next time. Spanking is no cure-all. Neither is any other specific form of punishment.

But I think you'll find the most effective form is also the most logical one—depriving him of things he wants.

Take His Crayons

If your youngster insists on drawing on the walls instead of on paper, simply take his crayons from him. He will soon see that it is more fun to draw on paper than not at all.

Or maybe your child stalls while getting ready for bed. Then warn him he'll miss his bedtime story or his snack before bedtime.

He Is Tired

As I pointed out earlier, you can frequently tame a rambunctious youngster by putting him to bed earlier than usual. But you must carefully explain that you are doing this because he is tired, not because he is naughty. Then, always point out that if he were not tired, he would not be acting up. Perhaps depriving your child of his Saturday afternoon movie date will get him to report for supper on time. Don't, however, refuse to let him eat simply because he's a little late. He needs that nourishment.

No Television

Television, too, can be a non-bruising form of punishment. I don't mean you should make an unruly child sit through some uninteresting programs, but you might deprive him of his favorite show a couple of times.

Sometimes, however, you may think it advisable to spank him. But let me warn you right here that, if this is the case, be careful you don't "blow your top."

Never punish in anger. Count up to ten, or up to two hundred if you have to, before you begin. And always have a smile on your face when you are spanking. Use your hand, not a strap. You'll know how hard you are striking, if you use your hand.

After you have finished spanking him, always think back and analyze the situation. Did he deserve that spanking? It may not do your youngster any good at the moment, but it will help you deal out punishment more justly in the future.

news behind the news

WASHINGTON—Many Democratic politicians here privately fear that today's New Orleans session for selection of a new party chairman and promotion of harmony may reopen wounds and revive differences between the Northern liberal and Southern conservative factions. Arranged by the Stevenson-Mitchell forces, the meeting has a New Dealish coloration.

The most prominent figures in attendance and on the speakers' program are devoted admirers and supporters of the Roosevelt-Truman political, social and economic program, which is extremely unpopular below the Mason and Dixon Line. Their appearance is understandable because it was in the North—Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania—that the Democrats made their greatest gains in the November election.

Comparatively few southern state executives accepted National Chairman Mitchell's original invitations. It may be an exaggeration to suggest that they are boycotting the convocation, but it is obvious that they are not too delighted with this apologetic invasion of their domain by men still regarded as "political carpetbaggers."

HARRIMAN—Governor-elect Averell Harriman, for obvious reasons, has been booked as the star performer.

But it does not require an elephantine memory, although they have it, for certain Southern leaders—Byrd of Virginia, George and Russell of Georgia, Byrnes of South Carolina, Shivers of Texas—to recall that Harriman asked Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. to become a member of his New York cabinet. And it was young F.D.R. who headed the movement to oust Dixie's delegations from the 1952 convention.

Two other feature attractions are Governor-elect Orville L. Freeman of Minnesota and Senator-elect Patrick V. McNamara of Michigan. As a Democrat-Farmer-Labor champion and an American Federation of Labor official, respectively, both represent elements distasteful to the South.

GOP PARLEY—The south's new importance in the changing political system is reflected in the fact that the Republicans' selection of Houston as the site of a national committee parley constitutes a definite bid to that section. Once taken for granted by the Democrats and ignored by the GOP, this flourishing area is now a supposedly debatable battleground on the national level.

The Republicans think they have a chance to make new gains in the 1956 presidential election. They won a congressional seat in Texas last month, and retained four out of five House places in Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee.

POSITION—In South Carolina, former Governor J. Strom Thurmond, a write-in candidate, won the senatorial contest over the regular organization's nominee. Thurmond was entered in the race by Governor Byrnes, who was an open supporter of Eisenhower in 1952. Running against Truman in 1948 as the "Dixiecrat" entry, Thurmond carried four states.

The South may be a long way off from becoming a two-party area, although it could become such in national elections, as 1948 and 1952 suggested. But it has attained the comfortable spot in which it may say with safety: "A plague on both your houses!"

MILK—Secretary Ezra Taft Benson may soon send a thank-you note to Pierre Mendès-France but it will have nothing to do with politics or diplomacy. He hopes that newspaper pictures showing the French premier as a hard drinker of milk will boost his campaign for increased consumption of that product.

Whether due to the foreign statesman's advertisement or to Benson's persistent efforts and, we example, sales of this important farm commodity are showing a definite increase as against a normal seasonal drop in cold weather.

Business And Professional Club Has 31st Anniversary

Jean Shea Is Guest Speaker

The Business and Professional Women of Circleville celebrated the thirty-first anniversary of the club with a dinner and program held Thursday evening in the social rooms of the Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Paul R. Brown read the club collect, which preceded the dinner, served by the Presbyterian Women's Association. Miss Donna Mitchell at the piano provided dinner music.

Mrs. Richard Jones, club president, gave a welcome to the nearly seventy members and guests who had assembled for the occasion. Guests were present from Greenfield, Washington C. H., Williamsport, Circleville and Columbus.

Following the dinner, group singing of Christmas carols was led by Mrs. Harold Defenbaugh. Mrs. Lillian Avis served as accompanist.

Miss Ann Gordon presented the charter members of the club, who are: Mrs. Anna Chandler, Miss Mary Howard, Miss Minnie Palm, Miss Nella Palm, Mrs. Irma Stevenson and Mrs. Esther Work.

Mrs. Jones gave a brief resume of the history of the 31 years of the club and plans for the immediate future of the organization. She stated that the club has been noted both for leadership and for cooperation with other organizations.

The club was founded in 1923 by Miss Mary Wilder, city librarian, four years after the first national organization meeting, which was held in St. Louis.

Among the many activities of the club during the years, Mrs. Jones noted that several musicals and plays were given by the members.

A club song book was published in 1927, containing an original song written by Miss Clara Southward. A historical pageant, written by Mrs. Chandler, was given by the local club during a national meeting in 1929.

The ministers of Circleville were entertained by the group, and the soldiers stationed at Lockbourne Air Force Base were guests of the club during the war years.

Among the most recent accomplishments of the group, according to Mrs. Jones, was the contribution of $100 to a National Home fund.

Christmas selections on an electric guitar were presented at intervals during the evening by Lewis Brevard of the Mount of Praise Bible School.

Mrs. Jean Crow Shea served as guest speaker for the evening, presenting a narrated film on the behind-the-scenes activities of a telecast.

Mrs. Shea, who grew up in Circleville, stated that her last visit to the Presbyterian church had been her wedding, 16 years ago. She is the mother of two children, a son and daughter, and raises St. Bernard dogs as a hobby.

The speaker stated that her dogs were the immediate cause of her entrance into the television business. Her first appearance on television was in a guest discussion of her hobby of raising dogs. She noted that one of her dogs now is appearing on a popular family-type program.

Among the many shows on television, Mrs. Shea reminded her listeners to note the number of programs aimed at assisting the ladies of the house, both in tips on homemaking and in serving as baby-sitters for the small children.

The film depicted many of the problems encountered during a show, which, stated Miss Shea, must be perfected prior to the telecast, as once said or done there is no way of undoing the mistakes.

Programs are scheduled and planned six weeks in advance of actual presentation, and local talent is used on most homemaking shows to add interest and variety to the program. At least six hours of preparation go into each half hour show which is presented on television.

Mrs. Shea was assisted in her narration and film showing, by Mrs. Anne Hunsicker, home economist for the television station.

Guests at the event included: Mrs. Stella Winegar of Greenfield, director of District 10, and Miss Olive Wheaton, also of Greenfield; Mrs. Loretta Keeler and Mrs. Ruth Snyder, both of Williamsport, and Mrs. Harry Crow of Circleville, mother of Mrs. Shea.

Mrs. Howard Dellinger, president of the Washington C. H. club, Mrs. Marie Williams, Miss Mary Frances Snider, Miss Garnet Huston, Miss Grace Huston, Mrs. Fred Shoop, Miss Margaret Smith and Miss Faye Nelson, all of Washington C. H.

Pythian Sisters Past Chiefs Club Elects Officers

Mrs. Mary Talbot was hostess to members of the Past Chiefs Club of Pythian Sisters in her home on Watt St., when election of officers was held.

Mrs. Irvin Reid was re-elected president of the group, Miss Clarissa Talbot, vice president, and Miss Nellie Bolender, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Reid presided at the session, which opened with a salute to the Flag and the Lord's Prayer. The group voted to contribute to the Medina Home and to prepare Christmas baskets for needy families.

The program for the session, opened with the Bible story of Christmas and a reading, "Hold On to the Christmas Glow." Mrs. Merle Lape presented puzzles for the members to complete and Christmas carols were sung by the group.

Highlight of the program was an exchange of Christmas gifts, when the mystery sisters for the past year were revealed. New names were drawn for mystery sisters for the coming year.

Refreshments, served by the hostess, completed the evening.

The next meeting will be held Jan. 5 in the home of Mrs. Edgar Carmean of E. Franklin St.

Mrs. Armstrong Hosts Meet Of Church Society

Mrs. George H. Armstrong and Miss Florence Bowsher were hostesses to the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Adelphi Methodist Church in the former's home in Salt Creek Township.

Mrs. Horace Hubble, club president, was in charge of the meeting. A report was given of the dinner served by the Society at a district meeting of the Pythian Sisters. Mrs. Alma Archer was devotional leader and was assisted by Mrs. O. B. Armstrong and Mrs. Helen Rodocker.

Mrs. Homer Reber of Ashville, conference secretary of missionary service, was guest speaker. A solo present was Mrs. W. R. Sunderland of Kingston, group leader of Chillicothe District. Mrs. Ralph Dunkle of near Ashville presented several musical numbers, playing her own accompaniment. Included were a Thanksgiving hymn and Negro spirituals.

Christmas gifts were brought, to be sent to the Henderson Settlement in Kentucky.

Lunch was served from a table centered with a large cornucopia overflowing with fruits and flowers, emblematic of the bountiful harvest of the year. There were 30 members and guests present.

Junior Women Have Mock Trial At Men's Night Fete

The dining room of the Wardell Party Home became the Junior Woman's Court of Pickaway County in which the case of Phillips vs. Merritt was heard Thursday evening following an annual "Men's Night" dinner of Junior Woman's Club.

The dinner was served at three long tables each of which was centered by three candy striped candles surrounded by greenery. Individual places were marked by candy canes and greenery.

Members of the committee planning the affair were: Mrs. Walter Yamarick, Mrs. John Griffith, Mrs. Russell Ward, Mrs. Ray Friend, Mrs. Henry Swope and Mrs. Paul R. Porter.

Following the dinner the president, Mrs. Richard Penn introduced two new members: Mrs. William Speakman and Mrs. Francis Wirth and their husbands. She then introduced members of the Pickaway County Bar Association who conducted a mock trial based on an auto accident which occurred in a movie shown recently in Circleville.

Common Pleas Judge William Radcliff presided. Attorneys William Ammer, Kenneth Robbins, Richard Penn and Probate Judge George D. Young planned the roles of attorney for the plaintiff, attorney for the defendant, Clerk of Court, and bailiff, respectively.

Mrs. Louis Wuest appeared as the plaintiff, Helen Phillips, and Dr. Henry Swope was the defendant, Robert Merritt. Witnesses were: Harry Turner, as the driver of the taxi from which Mrs. Phillips jumped to escape the defendant; Mrs. Sam Smith (Mrs. Kenneth Luna), driver of the car which struck the door of the taxi injuring Mrs. Phillips, and Dr. Paul Jackson as Dr. Ardmore, Mrs. Phillips's physician.

Members of the jury were Mr. and Mrs. Milton Patterson, Mrs. William Speakman, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Wirth, Dr. William Rickey, Mrs. Sterling Poling, Mrs. Harry Turner, Mrs. Paul Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Ward and Mrs. Ray Friend. Mrs. Paul R. Porter was questioned as a prospective juror and excused.

A verdict was rendered in favor of the defendant since no action of his could in any way be declared to be the proximate cause of the accident which, it was alleged, left the plaintiff totally blind.

Club members and their guests voted the program one of the most enlightening and entertaining they have had and all agreed that they felt they would make better jurors or witnesses as a result of participating in the program.

Mrs. Robbins and Mrs. Young were additional guests for the dinner and program. Club members and guests present in addition to those already mentioned were: Mr. and Mrs. Richard Funk, Mr. and Mrs. George Macklin, Kenneth Luna, Paul R. Porter, Mrs. William Rickey, Louis Wuest, and Sterling Poling.

One thing in favor of the old-fashioned knit undershirt is that there's nothing easier to wash! Whatever can be put into the washing machine and doesn't need ironing has every right to compete for fashion honors every day of every year.

Woman's Society Christmas Meet Has 100 Guests

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of First Methodist Church held its December meeting and Christmas program in the social rooms of the church with 100 ladies attending.

The decorations included a lighted Christmas tree in the dining room and a creche and lighted candles on the worship center. Each circle was seated at its own decorated table for a covered dish dinner. Following dinner, Mrs. William Cook, society president, conducted a brief business session.

Mrs. Paul Johnson, secretary of spiritual life, presented the devotional theme "The Prince of Peace". Miss Lura Purdin sang "Sleep, Holy Babe" accompanied by Miss Mary Ann McClure. The program emphasized two high points of the Christmas story:

Mrs. Tom Bennett discussed the place of the child in the hopes of the world, and told of the fourteen children's homes supported by the Woman's Society. She related special stories concerning the Peek Home at Palo, Ill.

Mrs. Walter Heine gave a message of peace on earth, ending with a Christmas litany and a dedication of the gifts which were presented as projects of the circles and the entire society.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The unanswered question about Sen. McCarthy is not whether he will go on as before—he says he will—but whether he can so handle himself that he won't get tied down again as he was in 1954.

In the past he made headlines hunting Communists. This year he made headlines but not so much for hunting Communists. The hunting was thoroughly interrupted by the Army-McCarthy hearings and the hearings and debate on censure.

He had to spend most of 1954 defending himself. But at the very moment he said he would continue as before, he recalled he had been repeatedly investigated and predicted he'd get more of the same again.

Since he will not change, he says, and will still hunt Communists, although being so much himself got him into knots that ended the hunting, then his problem is how to be himself so smartly that he can't be interrupted or tied down.

He can't claim he was smart in all he did this year. At the very moment he was up to his neck defending himself against censure, he put on a brand new performance which made censure a certainty.

McCarthy, like anyone else, acts and speaks out of his own personality. It was being so consistently McCarthy, and therefore unique in American politics, that he gained fame and a following.

Both might desert him if he tried to change his ways — which may seem to him a good reason for not trying — by showing more restraint in his accusations and more respect for other people, at least senators.

No matter what the compulsions of his personality may seem, he can show restraint when he wants to or feels he has to. He demonstrated that when he went before the Senate committee investigating censure charges against him.

Before this committee, headed by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), McCarthy yielded not an inch to criticism. But his conduct was almost subdued, and most of the time respectful, when compared with some of his other performances.

McCarthy was in a peculiar situation then. The Watkins committee had been created by the whole Senate to determine whether his conduct toward senators and others had been contemptuous.

If he had been contemptuous of the Watkins committee it not only might have prejudiced the members against him—he said some were already prejudiced—but it might have given added ammunition to those foes who said he was contemptuous.

So long as the committee had not made a report, there was a chance it might turn out in his favor. Until that report came out condemning his conduct McCarthy treated the committee with a fair amount of respect.

It recommended he be censured for (A) contemptuous conduct toward a previous committee which had investigated his finances and (B) for abusive treatment of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker.

Once Watkins made his report there seemed little chance McCarthy could beat censure in the whole Senate. But it wasn't final. He could have fought on constitutional and other grounds. He threw the chance away.

He was so nettled by the Watkins' report—the worst setback he had ever suffered—that he attacked the committee collectively and individually, calling Watkins stupid and cowardly and the committee the "unwitting handmaid" of the Communist party.

Senate reaction stormed against

Baby Boy Saved From Soapy Barrel

PUEBLO, Colo. (AP)—Year-old Ricky Rosen had stopped breathing and was turning blue yesterday when his mother pulled him from a trash barrel full of soapy water. Mrs. Jerome Rosen called firemen but managed to restore his breathing by the time a first aid squad arrived.

Ricky, treated by a family doctor, was fully recovered and resting well last night.

Mrs. Rosen was scrubbing out the barrel and stopped to enter the house for a moment. Ricky apparently lost his balance and fell head-first into the barrel while trying to reach the soapy suds.

Department Store Santa Is Robbed

LOS ANGELES (AP)—While Santa Claus was out front in downtown department store entertaining the kiddies today, a sneak thief made off with his wallet and $200 watch from his extra pair of pants in the dressing room.

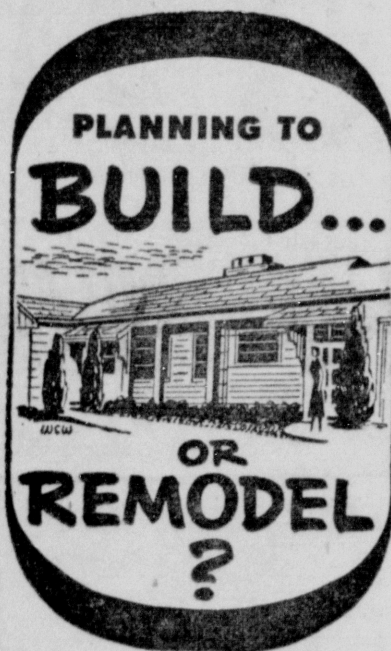

Santa, in the person of Paul K. Hollman, 55, told police the wallet contained $6 and personal papers.

him. Shortly after this McCarthy went to the hospital with a bruised elbow for a week. His stay in the hospital gave him time to reflect on the damage he had done himself.

At the very moment when he was defending himself against the charge that he was contemptuous of the Senate — for his treatment of the previous committee—he proved he was contemptuous by his treatment of the Watkins' committee.

At least that's the way the Senate understood it for it condemned him yesterday for being contemptuous of both committees while throwing out the charge that he had abused Gen. Zwicker.

It's McCarthy's choice of words toward the Senate which got him into trouble. He showed, at the Watkins' committee hearings, he can control his language if he wants to.

'Sympathy' Costs Men Fine Of $25

BALTIMORE (AP)—Walter Becker argued that he was sympathetic, not amorous. Nevertheless, magistrate William F. Laukaitis fined the real estate man $25 for trying to kiss a 42-year-old mother.

Mrs. Laura Gray told Laukaitis the 33-year-old Becker put his arm around her and tried to kiss her while she was showing him an apartment across the hall from her own. Becker, who is married and father of two children, said Mrs. Gray had complained of a pain in her arm and he might have placed his hands on her shoulder in sympathy.

Chapter III of the Constitution is a Bill of Rights which, while adapted to special conditions in Red China, closely follows the Constitution of Soviet Russia. The rights to work, to leisure and to social security are guaranteed. Article 100 reads:

"Citizens of the People's Republic of China must abide by the Constitution and the law, observe labor discipline and public order and respect social ethics."

By observing "labour discipline" the worker renounces his right to strike or even to object to Stakhanovism which is the Soviet method of speed-up. It reduces the worker to a slave of the state which alone determines wages, hours and working conditions. What specifically is meant by "social ethics" depends upon the interpretation of the moment.

For instance, when Zhdanov was the arbiter of social ethics in the Soviet Union, he determined what music could properly be composed and what literature could be written. The theory is the same in all Marxist countries, although the application of social ethics cannot wholly be divorced from local custom.

Small College Football Value Lauded By Star

Standout On Little All-America Team Depicts Opportunity

NEW YORK (AP)—Is football on the small college level worthwhile to the players?

You will get a quick, firm "yes" from William (Bill) McKenna of Brandeis, who was named an end on The Associated Press' Little All-America team today.

McKenna arrived at the Waltham, Mass., college, one of the country's youngest colleges, four years ago from Salem, Mass. He stretched two inches over six feet and weighed 165 pounds.

Bennie Friedman, the one-time Michigan star, couldn't find a spot for McKenna on the offensive platoon.

So McKenna played defense. Between football seasons McKenna either wrestled, did weight lifting or road work every day with the result that he now is a strapping 6-3 and 210 pounds of muscles.

He also developed in football. Unable to make the offense platoon in 1951, he was the team's leading scorer in two of his final three years.

Friedman says McKenna now is so good "that no matter who plays tackle beside him or backer-up behind him they all three look good." And Jack Kelleher of the Los Angeles Rams says "what a pair of hands. We want him."

Sharing the 1954 Little All-American honors with McKenna are stars from 10 other colleges. The other end is R. C. Owens of The College of Idaho, the only junior on the first team.

The tackles are Joe Veto of Juniata and Larry Paradis of Whitworth. Stokeley Fulton, Hampden Sydney's inspiration, is at center, flanked by guards Robert Patterson of Memphis State and Gene Nei of Gustavus Adolphus.

Alvin Beal, quarterback for Texas Trinity team that has not been beaten since 1952, is at quarterback with Don Miller, sparkplug of bowl-bound Delaware, at one of the remaining backfield berths. The fourth goes to Leo Lewis of Lincoln (Mo.) University, the only repeater from the 1953 team.

Lewis, who starred for four years at the Missouri College, virtually re-wrote the NCAA record book while doing so. He gained 4,458 yards rushing for one record; scored 64 touchdowns to wipe out marks of 59 set by Army's Glen Davis and Carl Tasseff of John Carroll and also erased the modern scoring records of both Tasseff and Davis.

Lewis registered 465 points. Davis's 354 was the previous top among players at major colleges while Tasseff's 355 was the previous high among all modern players. Both Tasseff and Davis, like Lewis, played four years.

Thirty-two different colleges landed players on the first three

Jersey Stable Is Top Buyer Of Yearlings

COLUMBUS—The Allwood Stable of Far Hills, N. J., was the leading purchaser of harness horse yearlings in 1954, the U. S. Trotting Association said today.

Allwood Stable adviser Thomas W. Murphy, retired trainer, made the final bid on eight trotting and pacing youngsters for a total outlay of $141,000.

Runnerup was Sol Camp of Shafter, Calif., who paid $90,500 for seven head. A year ago Camp was the top yearling purchaser and the New Jersey stable ranked 2nd.

Included among the Allwood yearlings, who will be trained and driven by young Ned Bower of Ravenna, was The Intruder, a Scotland colt which went for $35,000, top price paid for a yearling in 1954.

The Allwood Stable also went to $25,000 for the Adios filly Way Dream, most ever paid for a yearling pacing filly, and $25,000 for Barlow Hanover, a Hoot Mon colt, the most ever paid for the first foal of a mare.

Camp's top price was $25,500 for Solicitor General, a King's Counsel full brother to Solicitor. The Californian went to $25,000 for Blythe Hanover, a Hoot Mon filly, which represented a record for a yearling trotting filly.

Rounding out the list of leading purchasers was the Castleton Farm of Lexington, $64,000 for 10 head; Paul Wixom, Chicago, $37,000 for four head; and Clearview table, Winthrop, Me., $48,600 for seven head.

Saxton-Fuentes Bout Unexciting

LOS ANGELES (AP)—It isn't fair to knock two guys who tried to make something out of nothing for 10 rounds, but the fact remains today that the non-title welterweight match between the champion, Johnny Saxton, and the No. 3 challenger, Ramon Fuentes, was filled with unexcitement.

The outcome found the champ from Brooklyn the winner by a unanimous decision.

It also eliminated any public clamor for a return match for the title, for at the finish both guys were in danger of getting hit with wadded-up paper cups sent flying by an impatient gallery.

438 Standardbreds Bring $265,765

DELAWARE (AP)—Bidders paid a total of $265,765 for 438 trotters and pacers during the annual three-day fall speed sale of standardbred horses which ended here yesterday.

Top price yesterday was $5,000 paid for Queen's Choice, 2-year-old pacing colt, which won eight races in Illinois in 1954.

Teams. All 33 members of the honored eleven will receive engraved scrolls from The Associated Press attesting to their gridiron ability.

Restricted Grid TV Setup Urged

CHICAGO (AP)—Recommendation of continued restricted football television at the national level will be made to the annual National Collegiate Athletic Assn. Convention next month by the NCAA television committee.

The TV committee yesterday ended a two-day session of reviewing the 1954 television plan and drafting a report on it for the convention in New York Jan. 5-7.

"The recommendation for carrying national controls will leave the specific plan for 1955 football television up to the new TV committee to be named later," said Walter Byers, NCAA executive director.

Little Deaf Mute To Test Delaware '11'

EVANSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—A little deaf mute who talks with pounding feet will test one of the nation's most rugged defenses Sunday in the seventh annual Refrigerator Bowl football game.

Lou Mariano, Kent State University's 5-foot-7 fullback, has averaged 115 yards per game by rushing. He'll be running Sunday against a University of Delaware team that limited nine opponents to an average of less than 80 yards on the ground.

Mariano's performance this fall for the Ohio school included 14 touchdowns and two conversions. He broke away for a 99-yard sprint, a Mid-American Conference record, against Western Reserve.

In that Western Reserve game, Lou gained 226 yards all by himself and carried the ball only 10 times. He weighs 162 pounds.

Kent's Golden Flashes have been emphasizing pass defense in practice this week because of Delaware's quarterback Don Miller, who was named to the Associated Press Little All-America today.

Miller holds the college career record of 36 touchdowns passes. This year he has completed 60 of 103 for 1,022 yards and seven touchdowns. His grand total is 220 of 390 for 3,108 yards.

Delaware lost two games by extra points, 14-13 to both Muhlenberg and Gettysburg on successive weekends. It defeated West Chester, 40-6; Lehigh 21-0; Temple 51-13; New Hampshire 19-13; Connecticut 28-7; Lafayette 41-7, and Bucknell 20-0.

Kent's only loss was to Ohio University 14-7. It defeated Waynesburg 26-0; Western Reserve 65-0; Baldwin Wallace 52-7; Marshall 41-20; Bowling Green, 28-25; Akron 58-18; John Carroll, 27-14, and Western Michigan 20-13.

Dave Parks, head football coach at Columbus Central High School, is retiring after 29 years on his present job. Frank Howe, his chief assistant, will take over head coaching duties.

Three Texas League baseball teams—Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio—trained in Florida last spring.

5 Major Colleges Seeking New Head Football Pilots

The Associated Press
The last of the 1954 football gear has not yet been hung up but already five major colleges and at least one minor school are looking for a new head coach.

The unexpected resignation of Ed Danowski at Fordham University yesterday left the fifth major vacancy and there were reports that Harvey Robinson was on his way at Tennessee.

Major college coaches who have been fired or resigned within the last few days include Kip Taylor of Oregon State, Bill Young of Furman and Bernie Wituchi of Tulsa. Red Dawson stepped out at Pittsburgh in midseason because of ill health.

Among the smaller institutions, Norwich in Vermont is in the market for a coach after the resignation of George (Duke) Benz. Young, who also was athletic

Tourney-Wise Cage Teams Show Power

NEW YORK (AP)—Names familiar to college basketball fans when tournament picking time rolls around appeared prominently on the winning side of the scores today.

There was Western Kentucky, the nation's eighth ranked team last year, champions of the Ohio Valley and fourth in the National Invitation Tournament. Also 10th ranked Oklahoma A.M. kimpin of the Missouri Valley and Niagara's Purple Eagles, third in the NIT.

Alongside them were such annually potent powers as Illinois and DePaul.

Al won with comparative ease. Western Kentucky downed Gustavus Adolphus 90-79. Oklahoma Aggies turned back Howard Payne 81-44. Niagara had no trouble with Buffalo State, 81-60. DePaul romped over Kalamazoo 98-46 and Illinois spanked Butler, 88-34.

For Western Kentucky it was the Hilltoppers' 62nd consecutive home court victory.

Baylor had the closest call, just managing to edge Hardin Simmons 67-63. Seven-foot Don Boldebeck tallied 24 points in leading Houston to a 85-63 triumph over the Texas Aggies.

South Carolina brushed aside Georgia 74-54. After a wobbly first half Tulsa beat Creighton, 69-54.

Wake Forest had no trouble with Belmont College of Nashville, Tenn., 96-68. Arizona moved past Arizona State of Flagstaff 68-58.

Sorority Girls Challenge Boys To Football Game

NORMA, Okla. (AP)—The girls of Chi Omega sorority at the University of Oklahoma have challenged Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity to a campus football match.

In accepting, the boys could only utter, "Wow!"

"We're not even going to warm

up," fraternity coach Mike Raia said.

Of course, as girls will, they've rewritten the rule book. The boys must walk, not run, toward the ball carrier; they must count to 10 before rushing the passer; a five-yard penalty will be assessed for hugging; and all fraternity passes (with the ball) must be made with the left hand and caught in one hand.

One thing the girls forgot—

there's no penalty against offensive holding.

At the fraternity, everybody but the housemother has signed up for the team.

Ailing Mustangs Awaiting Irish

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist Mustangs, loaded with injuries and memories of past meeting with Notre Dame, were a crippled but confident football team as they finished preparations for tomorrow's game with the Irish.

The Mustangs, second-place finishers in this year's Southwest Conference race, meet the perennial kings of the nation's independents tomorrow in what local fans are beginning to regard as almost another Cotton Bowl game.

It's one of three contests that always pack the 75,000-seat stadium.

Ryff Given Nod To Top Zulueta

NEW YORK (AP) — Young Frankie Ryff has come up so fast he's a candidate for fight rookie of the year as well as being in line for a shot at the lightweight title.

The 22-year-old New Yorker will get the second big test of his budding career here tonight when he faces 26-year-old Orlando Zulueta.

Frankie is the 8-5 choice although the clever Cuban is ranked higher in the division. Zully is ranked as the fourth contender and Ryff No. 5.

Others are the Texas-Oklahoma rivalry and the Jan. 1 classic.

Omaha Set For OK As New American Association Spot

HOUTON, (AP) — Omaha, Neb., was expected to officially become a member of the American Assn. today as the minor league convention comes to a close.

Another development will be the naming of the five-man arbitration board by minor league President George Trautman to settle damages due the Western League for draft of its Denver territory.

On the player end, the Associated Press learned that the Brooklyn team is set to sell veteran third baseman Billy Cox for $50,000 to one of two American League clubs—Baltimore or Cleveland. E. J. Bavasi, Dodger vice president, also has asked for a couple of minor league farmhands.

The inter-league transaction, in all likelihood, will be consummated at the major league meetings in New York next week. The only current hitch is Brooklyn's inability to get waivers on Cox. It is believed, however, that because of the fancy figure, the Dodgers will receive "gentleman waivers" on the player.

The Dodgers and Cincinnati also were getting closer to completing a player trade that would involve outfielder Jimmy Greengrass or Wally Post and catcher E. C. Bailey of the Reds and second baseman Junior Gilliam and a second line pitcher from the Dodgers.

Only a matter of $25,000 stood between the Western League and the St. Louis Cardinals from concluding a pact that would transfer the Redbirds' Columbus American Assn. franchise to Omaha.

In a secret meeting with St. Louis representatives yesterday the Western League reduced its demand for damages on the release of Omaha from $100,000 to $60,000. The Cards countered with an offer of $35,000.

The minor leagues yesterday adopted 11 of the 23 amendments to the major-minor league agreement, passed four of the eight minor league amendments and threw out a resolution to revise or terminate the major-minor league agreement.

The most important piece of legislation passed was the amendment to ban commercial broadcasts and telecasts of baseball games on stations outside a club's home territory. This was subject to approval by the majors.

The minors went a step further by voting to retain the radio-TV, amendment even if the majors reject it.

The minors also adopted an amendment that would lower the player limits and increase the number of options of all clubs from the majors down to Class B. The majors, for instance, would reduce their limit from 25 men to 23 and increase their options from 15 to 17. This, too, must be passed by the majors.

The minors also voted to change the working agreement rule, raising the minimum price for selecting players from a club in Class B, C and D at the end of the season. The majors also would pay spring training costs, traveling expenses for optioned players and a portion of the manager's salary.

Larry Doby of the Cleveland Indians hit a home run in each American League Park during the 1954 season.

Prexy At Cincy Hopes For League

CINCINNATI (AP) — The president of the University of Cincinnati says it is "essential" that UC become a member of an "appropriate athletic conference."

The statement was made in a message from Dr. Raymond Walters, president of the university, who declared the university is working "diligently" toward the objective of a conference affiliation. He did not mention any group but Cincinnati has been mentioned as a possible member of the Missouri Valley loop.

Spaniels Tested In Field Trials

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Twenty three dogs were recalled for two land series and one water series today in the eighth annual National Championship Trials for English springer spaniels. Sprig of Manning Gulch, owned by Robert McLean of Fort Washington, Pa., and C. Mahlon Kline of Philadelphia, was considered one of the top performers in two land series yesterday. Judges eliminated 11 of the 3 starters after the first day's performance.

Two County Relief Workers Help Avert Human Tragedy

How They Helped Local Man, Ready To Give Up, Appears In Booklet As Touching Case History

Pickaway County's relief workers get little publicity but are responsible for a tremendous amount of humanitarian work.

However, the local office got some very well deserved recognition when a local case history was reported in the November Public Welfare Department publication. The case is the dramatic story of a man, disabled by a heart attack, who all but gave up life itself.

The man was only identified as Mr. North. He was a hard worker in the community, married and the father of two children.

In 1948, Mr. North's health began to fail. His symptoms took on the appearance of a disease affecting the protective covering of the heart. Fluid began to accumulate in the tissues, causing his weight to rise from 136 pounds to 158 pounds.

HE COULD NO LONGER work. The family savings began to dwindle. They finally had to apply for relief.

Miss Pauline Reese, director of the Pickaway County Relief and Aid For Disabled saw to it that food was made available. But this was only a part of the family's problems.

Mrs. Dorothy Downs, caseworker in the Pickaway County Aid To Dependent Children office had Mr. North examined by a doctor who declared the ill man totally unable to work. ADC went into action and the Norths began to receive a monthly allowance.

Repairs on the North house, which was almost completely paid for, were arranged. And Mr. North became eligible for the new Federal Social Security Aid For The Permanently and Totally Disabled. Meanwhile, Mr. North's condition did not improve. Fluid was constantly being removed from his body; at times, the amount reached as much as five gallons at a time.

HE WAS NOW only able to wear very loose clothing. He could not stoop or bend and had to sleep in a chair. And he was no longer able to go to the doctor's office.

A short time later, Miss Reese and Mrs. Downs related Mr. North's condition to Miss Margaret Scholes; she is field counselor of the state bureau of vocational rehabilitation with Pickaway County as part of her territory.

One day, Miss Scholes made a trip to the North home with Miss Reese and Mrs. Downs. One look was all she needed.

Meeting Planned To Discuss Loans

All local residents who are interested in soil and water conservation loans have been asked to put a mark on their calendars for next Thursday.

At 8 p. m. on that date, a meeting will be held in Pickaway County courthouse to discuss such loans. A public invitation to the meeting was extended by Cornell E. Copeland, county supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration branch of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The 83rd Congress legislation which enables both tenants and owners of farm land to secure needed credit for carrying out certain soil and water conservation measures. This program will be administered by the Farmers Home Administration and is designed to aid and assist in soil and water work, by making available a source of credit to those who in the past may have had financing difficulty.

Well-Heeled Man Freed In Theft

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 55-year-old factory worker with a $10,000 bank account was acquitted yesterday of a charge he stole $5 from a man in a supermarket.

Emile P. Gow was arrested Wednesday after a customer in the store accused Gow of scooping up a $5 bill he had dropped on the floor. When searched by police, Gow was found to be carrying $95 in cash, an uncashed check for $42 and five bank books with deposits totaling $10,000.

Magistrate William F. Laukaitis acquitted Gow with the observation that a man with Gow's wealth would hardly resort to a $5 theft.
